$5,000 Bail Set For 2 Accused In Torso Murder

HAMILTON (CP)—Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel today set bail of $5,000 each for Donald MacLean and William Bohozuk on charges of murder and postponed the hearing of a charge of murdering an infant against Mrs. Evelyn Dick to March 24.

The two men are charged with the torso killing of John Dick, husband of Mrs. Dick, March 6, 1946. The woman was acquitted of that charge last week, but is jointly charged with Bohozuk in the killing of the child, Peter David White MacLean.

Mr. Justice LeBel gave his ruling for a delay in the trial which had been scheduled for today. The defence lawyers based their pleas on the fact their clients had been in jail nearly 23 months. On the baby-killing charge Mrs. Dick put forward the claim that for this case she was without counsel and there were suggestions she might declare herself destitute, and have the Crown name a lawyer to represent her. The prosecution will proceed against the two men as soon as the baby-slaying charge is cleaned up.

Week-End Fires In U.S. Kill 10

Fires in seven eastern and mid-western states took a toll of 10 lives during the week-end and caused damage ranging above the million-dollar mark.

Three persons died in a blaze that swept an Indianapolis rooming house, three others in a Chicago apartment fire, and two in Des Moines, Ia. Single deaths were recorded in Blackwell, Okla., and Norwich, N.Y.

Three of the fires occurred in hotels in York, Pa., Gary, Ind., and Philadelphia, but no fatalities were reported. In Blackwell, a terrific explosion followed by a $1,000,000 fire destroyed a huge Cities-Service Gas Company compressor station. One man was killed.

Crime Wave In East As Criminals Flee Vancouver Round-up

Police Purge Of Underworld Taking Effect

VANCOUVER (CP)—The police purge of the Vancouver underworld is having repercussions in other Canadian cities.

Reports from Hamilton, Ont., Toronto and Edmonton tell of Vancouver men being implicated in robberies in those cities, and two men alleged to have participated in a $4,000 jewelry store robbery in Vancouver prior to the robbery in the capital. "A number of criminals are known to have left here," said a police official today. However, officials here fear forces in other cities are using the Vancouver drive as an excuse for apparent failure to stem the rising tide of crime.

Forecast Legislation For Supervised Secret Strike Vote

It was forecast at the Parliament Buildings today that labor legislation, expected to come before the Legislature this week, will provide for a government-supervised secret ballot of workers before a strike can take place.

The new clause would meet allegations... that strike votes were dominated by union executives and that the rank and file had little to say in the matter.

Employers have been pressing strongly for the secret strike vote.

Victorian Runner-Up For Basketball Trophy

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Ted Mossell, star forward of New Westminster Trapp Technical High School, captured the Bill Clifford Trophy for the most valuable player to his team during the two-day B.C. high school basketball tournament here.

Other players mentioned as runners-up included Ron Castner of Victoria, whose 25 points in the island team's first round victory over Penticton was outstanding.

8,824 New Houses

LONDON (Reuter)—Despite unusually bad weather, 8,824 permanent houses were completed in Britain in January, a government statement said today.

Fight Fire In Ship

Firemen battle blaze in liner John Ericsson at New York dock, where the four-alarm blaze raged for two hours before it was brought under control. Three crewmen were overcome by smoke, but there were no other casualties.

Washington Acts To Avert New Soft Coal Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court today took under consideration a request by the Justice Department that it put into effect immediately its ruling in the John L. Lewis contempt case.

Lewis and the United Mine Workers filed a petition opposing the government's move to speed up normal procedure.

Court attaches said the justices might announce their decision on the government's request later today, or perhaps later in the week.

The contempt case decision was given last Thursday. The court upheld contempt convictions of Lewis and the U.M.W. for disregarding a U.S. district court order against last fall's coal strike.

It sustained a $10,000 fine against Lewis and reduced from $3,500,000 to $700,000 one against the union.

The high tribunal directed that the original amount of the fine against the union should be re-imposed unless Lewis withdrew a notice to the government that the union was terminating its contract to mine coal.

Lewis was ordered to withdraw the termination order within five days after the high court's mandate was returned to the district court.

Since the miners are under instructions from Lewis to work

Think Dying Wife Sacrificed Life To Save Husband

VANCOUVER (CP)—Relatives believed today that the dying efforts of Mrs. Ruth Cooperman, 17-year-old bride of seven months, saved the life of her husband, Jack Cooperman, 27, after the couple had been stricken with food poisoning.

Cooperman was revived by an inhalator squad and today hospital authorities reported his condition was "fair." "He was apparently stricken first," said Mrs. Sarah Cooperman, his mother. The young bride collapsed and died over the prostrate husband during a strong attempt to revive him.

Remains of an anniversary cake—baked by the young wife to mark their seven months of married life—bedclothes and other food and liquids were taken to police headquarters for examination.

Relatives found Cooperman and his wife Sunday night after they had failed to get an answer to telephone calls.

Cooperman, an ex-serviceman who served four and a half years with the army, had been undergoing treatment at the Shaughnessy Hospital for war wounds.

Dr. H. Levson said today he had treated the Coopermans about five weeks ago for what he diagnosed as food poisoning.

Grenade Exploded Near Philippines President In Manila

MANILA (AP)—A hand grenade exploded 20 feet from President Manuel A. Roxas tonight as he was making his final speech before a large crowd in favor of the American parity amendment on which Filipinos will vote tomorrow.

It was announced the President was not injured, but a photographer who was taking his picture was wounded in the side and back.

The grenade was thrown at 10:40 p.m. on to the grandstand in Plaza Miranda, in front of historic Quiapo Church. Roxas left immediately for Malacanang Palace, his official residence.

Police threw a cordon around the area in an attempt to locate the would-be assassin, who had not yet been apprehended. The huge crowd was thrown into a panic by the explosion.

So far as could be determined, the photographer, Emilio Magalang, was the only person injured.

A spokesman at the presidential palace credited Jose Avelino, president of the Senate, with saving Roxas' life.

He said Avelino kicked the grenade away a moment before it exploded.

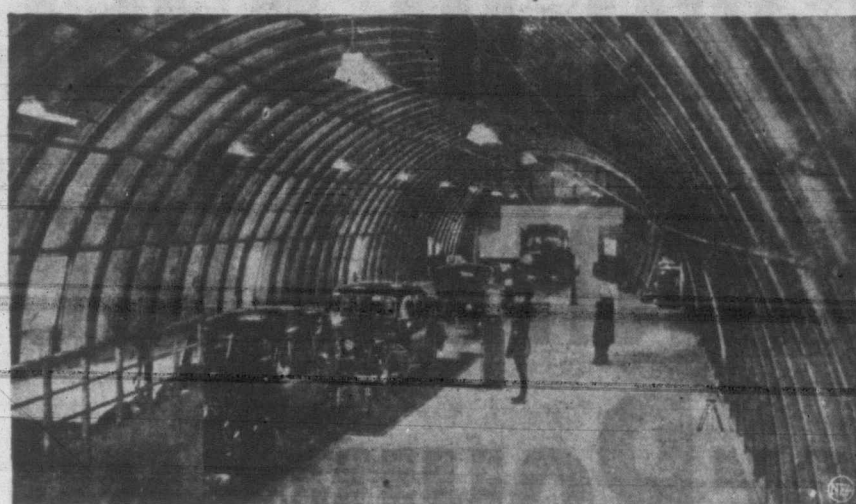

The constitutional amendment which the President was advocating provides equal economic opportunities for United States citizens in the development of the Philippines.

There has been extensive campaigning for and against it for the last several months, with political observers predicting it would be approved.

Foremen's Unions Get Legal Sanction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Supreme Court ruled today that employers must bargain with foremen's unions. The ruling was made on an appeal by the Packard Motor Company of Detroit from a National Labor Relations Board decision. The company contended foremen were not employees within the meaning of the Realizing that worn old cars now present one of the worst traffic hazards, Evanston, Ill., is solving the problem with a block-long, drive-in, drive-out "test tube." This is a 40 by 200-foot Quonset hut, equipped as a vehicle testing laboratory and manned by seven police mechanics. By ordinance, every one of Evanston's 15,000 automobiles must periodically be driven through and run the gamut of six testing stations. Among the new labor laws now being discussed in Congress are proposals to exempt foremen from the law.

Gallup Poll

Churchill Among First Three Of Ten Most Admired In U.S.

By AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION
PRINCETON, N.J. — General Douglas MacArthur and General Dwight D. Eisenhower are the two men who again head the annually compiled list of living people admired most by the U.S. public.

This is on the basis of a poll of the nation in which voters in all walks of life were asked:

"What person living today in any part of the world do you admire most?"

Here are the first 10 on the list in order of frequency of mention: 1, Douglas MacArthur; 2, Dwight D. Eisenhower; 3, Winston Churchill; 4, Harry S. Truman; 5, George C. Marshall; 6, Eleanor Roosevelt; 7, James F. Byrnes; 8, Pope Pius XII; 9, Sister Kenny; 10, Thomas E. Dewey.

The above list stands as a highly revealing reflection of the American mind. It will provide interesting material for the sociologist and for students of the public mind in this country.

The list includes no great industrialist or businessman, no famous educator, or scholar or scientist, none popular in sports or the theatre. In fact, these people are all with one exception in some aspect of public affairs. The lone exception is Sister Kenny.

It is also interesting to note that three of the top 10 are from outside the United States—Churchill, Pope Pius XII, and Sister Kenny. Last year, only one—Churchill—was from outside U.S.A., and at that time stood fifth on the list.

There are three newcomers on the list this year—George C. Marshall, Pope Pius XII, and Sister Kenny.

The three who have topped the list from the very top group—Henry A. Wallace, Herbert Hoover, and Harold E. Stassen—still receive very prominent mention in the poll this year.

Martial Law Again In Formosa; Chiang To Avert Rebellion

NANKING (AP)—The Chinese government's official Central News Agency said today martial law had been re-established to prevent rebellion in Formosa as Chiang Kai-shek declared his intention to maintain order in that newest of China's hot spots.

Chiang, blamed for Formosans with Communist inclinations and those who served with Japanese expeditionary forces in the Pacific for fomenting unrest on the island.

A delegation of Formosans came to Nanking to demand self-government and to accuse Chiang's administrator of killing 3,000 to 4,000 of their countrymen in "a wholesale massacre that put to shame even Japanese cruelty." Chinese sources had reported 500 casualties in the uprising Feb. 28.

Central News said the Chinese garrison in Formosa had ordered the disbanding of "all illegal civil bodies"—presumably the six, represented in the Nanking delegation. The martial law order banned meetings and parades and ordered the registration of all civilian firearms.

The strength of the opposition seems to confirm reports heard in Formosa a few months ago that a considerable quantity of arms, ammunition and supplies were hidden on the island prior to Chinese occupation at the war's end. Previously, Japan had dominated the island half a century.

Atomic Question May Go Back To U.N. Commission

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—Despite expected Russian opposition, the United States appeared certain today of winning its fight to refer the controversial atomic report back to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

Renewal of the atomic debate highlighted a heavy week ahead for the Security Council as U.N. delegates faced these possible developments:

1. Britain was expected to file formally with the United Nations the explosive Palestine problem.
2. The Security Council was expected to accept a United States plan to place the Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific under a U.N. strategic area trusteeship.
3. A three-power council subcommittee prepared to report findings on Britain's mine-laying complaint against Albania.
4. Before the U.N. delegates was a petition from native leaders of Western Samoa for complete self-government, with the protection of New Zealand, which under a trust agreement.

Bevin Supports Plea Of U.S. For 4-Power Pact Against Germany

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

MOSCOW (AP)—State Secretary Marshall gave a new push today to the United States proposal for a four-power alliance against Germany, but he was assured the support of only Britain's Ernest Bevin as the Foreign Ministers' Council met in snow-mantled Moscow to consider peace treaties for Germany and Austria.

Foreign Minister Bidault of France was reported to be tentatively agreeing to support the four-power pact sponsored by the United States only if it was part of a broad pattern to keep Germany impotent. He insisted the other parts must include political separation of the Ruhr from Germany, a central government and a low level of industrial production.

Marshall told correspondents he would press for the German disarmament and demilitarization treaty originally proposed by James F. Byrnes, his predecessor. Bevin is known to favor the Byrnes plan strongly.

The ministers drove over snow-covered streets to the meeting place, the house of Soviet aviation industry, two miles from the Kremlin. A handful of curious Russians saw them.

State Secretary Marshall was the first to arrive, reaching the building about 15 minutes before the session was scheduled to open. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith accompanied him.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France was next to arrive.

Foreign Minister Molotov and his deputy, Andrei Vishinsky, arrived together. They apparently were the only ones of the four-power group recognized by the spectators, who broke into a wave of hand-clapping. Molotov nodded curtly.

The last to arrive was Britain's Ernest Bevin, who passed almost unnoticed between a few policemen on hand to keep back crowds who were not there.

Every indication was that peace with the beaten countries would not be made without a long, wordy battle lasting for months—or even years.

Marshall, Bevin and Bidault all have predicted ultimate success. But the weekly News Times, generally regarded as the voice of the Soviet Foreign Office, blasted Anglo-United States policies on Germany and Austria and singled out three of Marshall's advisers for personal attack.

Privately, western diplomats expressed themselves as highly uncertain whether any real progress would be made in treaty drafting. East and west seemed mutually suspicious, each apparently believing the other to be seeking control of Germany.

Marshall, arriving by plane Sunday, said there undoubtedly would be "great difficulties" in the Moscow negotiations. He emphasized that "the mission on which I have come . . . is one of tremendous importance and consequence for all mankind." On this point alone, Marshall and the New Times seemed agreed.

The weekly said the conference "will in many ways determine the course of development of international relations in Europe and all the world over."

The magazine then warned the west against "atomic diplomacy" and trying to dictate to the Soviet Union; accused Britain and the United States of violating the Potsdam Pact on Germany and labeled as "blackmail" the advocacy of a western policy of firmness toward Russia.

The New Times lambasted proposals to federalize Germany and demanded unification. Likewise, it renewed demands for reparations which the west opposes. These are among the greatest issues here.

150 Toronto Police Seeking Gunman

TORONTO (CP)—Some 150 police officers this afternoon methodically combed the St. Clair Avenue district of West Toronto for a man sought in connection with two armed robberies earlier in the day in which loot of some $1,500 was obtained. Police arrested one of two suspects—Lorne Klan, 22-year-old Winnipeg man, who was booked on a charge of armed robbery.

Two Boys Corner Thief With $4,000 Haul In Jewelry

Through the courageous act of 18-year-old youths, Reginald Lott, 1157 Glovelly Terrace, and John Rickerby, 2501 Cook Street, a $4,000 robbery from Whitney's jewelry store, 631 Yates Street, was thwarted in the early hours of Sunday morning.

After the boys chased him a block John Hefford, aged 21 years, whose home is Sydney, N.S., was cornered by the two members of the Colonist mailing room staff at View and Government Streets, at 2.40 in the morning. They kept him cornered until police in prowler cars, summoned by Andy Veitch, mailing staff manager, arrived on the scene and took charge.

In city police court this morning Hefford pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering the jewelry store when the charge was read against him.

Herbert Kelly, aged 22 years, from Steveston, B.C., charged similarly, and standing in the dock alongside Hefford, entered a plea of not guilty and elected trial before the magistrate.

Both cases were remanded to tomorrow.

Hefford said to the magistrate: "I was the one who broke into the shop, not him," indicating Kelly.

A large cardboard box carried by Hefford and a search of his person netted police a total of 58 men's and ladies' watches and 79 rings, which Brock Whitney, store manager, reported had a total value of $3,865.78.

Entry to the store was made by climbing the awning at the extreme Broad Street end of the store and crawling through a window that was three feet 11 inches long and 12 inches deep. It had been forced. The window allowed entry to an upstairs storeroom at the back of the store.

Brock Whitney, proprietor of the store, pointed out that the jewelry stolen was from stock. Jewelry and watches of customers were locked in the vault, which was not touched.

Engraved Watches Boys' Reward

Mr. Whitney today was loud in his praise of the two young men who chased the thief, enabling police to arrest him.

"This type of co-operation is marvelous in the ranks of our youth today," he said. Such citizens, he said, were a credit to the city.

Mr. Whitney said he would reward the boys, probably with gold watches, suitably inscribed to mark the occasion of frustrating a jewel robbery.

Builder Cancels Arena Roof Bid; Offer Job To Next Lowest Tender

Because of the inability of Crowley Construction Company to obtain structural steel for the erection of the barrel-type roof of the Memorial Arena, Ald R. A. C. Dewar, chairman of the arena committee, recommended to today's special council meeting that the tender for the structure be granted to Bennett & White Co., Vancouver, for $138,919.

Bennett & White have assured the Arena Committee, it was learned, that they have all the necessary materials on hand, including structural steel suitable for the special roof structure.

In the course of negotiating the signing of the tender with Crowley Construction Company, which bid $118,315 for the job it was discovered that the firm would post a bond for 10 per cent of the contract but not for the $50,000 required. Some of

CURTAIN GOES UP IN MOSCOW

LIKE SEVERAL OF THE DECISIONS reached during the latter years of the Second World War by the original "Big Three," the Potsdam agreement to treat Germany as an economic unit has more or less become a pledge on paper only. Since the summer of 1945 the Russians and the French, each for practically the same basic reason, have maintained their opposition to any policy calculated to restore the major defeated nation to a position of political or economic importance. To persuade the Soviet Union in particular to depart from her adamant stand on this obviously vital point may be one of the most difficult tasks—among many others—to which the Council of Foreign Ministers will have to address themselves during the deliberations which began in Moscow today.

Naturally enough the men in charge at the Kremlin do not trust the Germans; nor do the French—regardless of all the Anglo-American assurances that never again shall Prussianism in its various guises be allowed to raise its ugly head. France has not forgotten and is never likely to forget 1870, 1914, and 1939. The memory of what the German hordes did to their country in the two World Wars of this century still lives with the people of Russia. Small wonder, therefore, that the balm of economic argument is slow to remove the smart of the Hun's iron heel. But certain fundamentals upon which an enduring peace must depend will have to be recognized in the long run in the interests of world order.

How thus to reconcile the more pronounced Russian distrust of some of the plans for Germany—and, to a lesser degree, Austria—upon which both Great Britain and the United States seem to be in substantial agreement must remain for the moment one of the unpredictable of the momentous conference now under way in the Soviet capital. We obtain some concept of the point of view of the average citizen of the U.S.S.R. from a verbal picture which Mr. Drew Middleton, the able-roving correspondent of the New York Times, painted recently. Here is part of a dispatch he filed from his Moscow office the other day which is worth noting by those peoples of the world whose lands and homes were not despoiled by Hitler's legions:

"The man of Moscow who watched a pitiful caravan of refugees struggle through from the front, whose ancestral village was overrun, looted and burned, cannot preserve toward the Nazis the attitude of a Kansas farmer."

That was well said. The simple but moving passage automatically bespeaks the type of argument that will have to be met, that will have to prevail, if the spokesmen for the Soviet Union—likewise those of France—are to be convinced that a rejuvenated, reformed and democratic Germany should be permitted to emerge under the bill of atonement with which she eventually will be presented, and of which full settlement will be demanded. Far-seeing statesmen of Russia and France, on the other hand, surely will be impressed with the conviction that if the former Third Reich is left a festering sore in the European body politic, the prospect of peace and security anywhere in the world must remain a grim doubt. For it will have to be admitted—and the recent discovery of the smouldering embers of Nazism proves the point—that the Teuton mind is inventive and ingenious. These and other aspects of the German problem, of course, will receive full attention by the Foreign Ministers of the "Big Four." And if the provisions of the final treaty for the major defeated nation require many months of discussion, before full agreement is reached, it will be labor well expended—provided no genuine cause for revenge remains.

MANPOWER AND MIGRATION

SEVERAL NEWSPAPERS IN BRITAIN, regardless of their political leanings, are beginning to deal with the nation's serious manpower shortage in the light of the growing number of applications for transportation to the Dominions and the United States. One of the Conservative Party's most ardent supporters, the London Evening Standard, took the bit in its editorial teeth last week and urged the government to initiate "an immigration policy that would reconcile 'individual liberty to choose one's own home' with Britain's immediate national need for workers. Bearing in mind the 'passion among scores of thousands . . . to be up and departing from their weary native earth for greater opportunities' elsewhere, this metropolitan daily further points out that while British lands overseas are 'hungry for skilled labor, there never was a time when Britain was herself in such a desperate need for every available hand and brain.' This being the case, therefore, the Standard is calling upon the Attlee administration to work out a migration policy with all of the Dominions.

Some idea of British industry's problem is reflected by the fact that dozens of manufacturers—particularly those engaged almost solely in turning out goods for the export market—continue to pay the wages of their regular employees when climatic vagaries forced the industrial machine to a standstill in many parts of the country. The employers felt compelled to adopt this procedure because they were far from sure that they would be able to retain the services of those operatives when full production resumed. One does not require to be a professional economist to realize the seriousness of a manpower shortage which demands this method of production insurance. Not that the workers could be held responsible for the weather; but the high cost of factory idleness in consequence presents a new problem. And last week's storms have posed fresh difficulties.

The advice which the London government is getting in respect of the insufficiency of the nation's labor force obviously is difficult to reconcile with any program of consultation with the Dominions designed to assist the latter to acquire more potential residents from the British Isles. Latest statistics do not altogether agree on the number of workers the industries of Britain require to assure the production of commodities for the export market that will exceed the pre-war volume by 75 per cent—which was the Labor government's objective for the current year or as soon after as may be possible. The figures nevertheless show that something like three-quarters of a million is the minimum requirement. It is this urgent demand, of course, which is responsible for the official desire to cut the size of the various occupation armies and the peacetime establishments of armed personnel. British statesmen have good cause to be worried over their dilemma.

GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS

FOR MANY YEARS IT HAS BEEN APPARENT that existing space in the Parliament Buildings has been inadequate to meet the needs of the government's expanding departments. The necessity of renting offices in the commercial district has emphasized the urgency of substantial additions to the architecturally elegant pile in James Bay. That arrangements to meet current requirements have progressed to the point at which $1,000,000 has been set aside for a start on the important addition on the southeast corner of Belleville and Government Streets will be a source of satisfaction to the people of the province in general and to Victorians in particular.

Many factors will prevent speedy completion of such an edifice. Designs have yet to be prepared. Details for acquisition of all property required have yet to be completed. The fact remains, however, that Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Public Works, has announced that $1,000,000 is earmarked for the coming fiscal year for a start on the undertaking. In the meantime a less ambitious project, the construction of a temporary structure to house government offices at the rear of the existing buildings, has advanced to the extent that $175,000 is set aside for work during 1947-48.

Further encouragement is given to Victorians who have awaited long-heralded government construction programs by the announcement from Ottawa that more preliminaries have been completed in respect to the federal building on property in the vicinity of the present Diggon-Hibben site on Government Street. It is not too optimistic to hope that plans for the work will permit calling of tenders this summer, and, if the supply and labor situations are satisfactory, a start may be made on the job before the end of the year.

Apart from the very material importance of the different projects in relieving office shortages and in consolidating government departments, the undertakings will furnish a guarantee of sustained activity for the building trades, in all their ramifications, when the current demand for housing and private construction begins to wane. What the proposed edifices will do to enhance the attractiveness of the city requires no elaboration.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE

IN HIS SPEECH AT WACO, TEXAS, President Truman referred to the forthcoming negotiations at Geneva in connection with international trade. These will be based on the report of the preparatory committee of the International Conference on Trade and Employment now before the United Nations Economic and Social Council. A resolution has been submitted to the Council relating to inter-governmental consultation and action on commodity problems prior to the establishment of the operative body. To put it briefly, the preparatory committee recommended that, pending the establishment of the International Trade Organization, member nations should adopt as a guide the I.T.O. draft charter provisions for the expansion of world trade and the removal of artificial economic barriers.

Five committees were established to amend the original charter as proposed by the United States, and their report was adopted by the preparatory committee, which then appointed a special committee to redraft the charter that will be considered in Geneva on April 8. At this meeting, it will be understood, the constitution of the International Trade Organization will be worked out. At present no government is committed to any of the proposals. The result of the Geneva deliberations will undoubtedly be submitted to the next meeting of the United Nations Assembly. But Mr. Truman foreshadowed the policy of his administration by emphasizing the bipartisan nature of his preliminary discussions and decisions on the subject of international trade with the leaders of the Republican Party. Now for the guarantees that the United States will back the main objective of the I.T.O. is highly conjectural.

Marshall At Moscow

By PETER EDSON from Washington
 TO EXPECT TOO much from the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers' meeting which opened in Moscow today would be a serious mistake. This is not to predict failure. But the general impression that this first conference which Gen. George Marshall is attending as U.S. Secretary of State will produce the draft for a treaty of peace with Germany is all wrong. The conference will just talk about it, possibly deciding what to do next.

It took 18 months to write the peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, and Finland. It will take at least that long—probably two years or more—before a peace treaty with Germany will be ready.

For Austria, the time may be a little shorter. Two sets of American, British, French, and Russian deputies to the foreign ministers have been meeting in London since Jan. 15. Their task has been to prepare for the Moscow Conference.

THE DEPUTIES on the German treaty have not been able to agree on a thing. The deputies on the Austrian treaty have prepared a rough draft which the foreign ministers will have a look at. But it is full of dissenting opinions, and whether they can be straightened out at Moscow is questionable.

The general nature of the subjects which Marshall, Bevin, Bidault, and Molotov have agreed to talk about can be indicated.

First will be a report from the Allied control councils—the four Allied generals now in command of military government in the four occupation zones of Austria and Germany. These control councils, which sit in Vienna and Berlin, have prepared reports of nearly 1,000 pages. They cover the progress which has been made in carrying out the policies set forth in the Potsdam agreement of August, 1945, on the disarming, denazifying, and democratizing of Germany.

REPORT WILL ALSO be made on the progress—or rather the lack of progress—in collecting reparations from Germany. Then there will be reports on the inability to set up central administrations to govern the finance, transport, communications, and trade between zones of both countries.

Revision of the Potsdam declaration, which was the temporary policy directive to the Allied control councils for the government of Germany and Austria, is possible. At any rate, further instructions to the councils for military government of the occupation zones until the treaties are ready will be up for discussion.

One of the most important recent achievements of the control council in Berlin has been promulgation of an order breaking up the old kingdom and state of Prussia, biggest and most aggressive of Germany's political subdivisions and the real trouble-maker in both world wars.

With Prussia formally dissolved, the question of the future organization of Germany comes up. What form of government shall it have? How fast shall it be created?

IN TELLING THEIR deputies what provisions shall be drafted into this treaty, the foreign ministers have political, territorial, economic, and military questions to consider.

Politically, the question is whether to set up the future German centralized government like a Soviet or former German state organized from the top down, or like an American state organized from the bottom up. Also whether there shall be one political party as in Russia, two as in the United States, or more as in France and England.

There are three principal territorial questions. First is the fixing of Germany's eastern boundary, now temporarily set at the Oder River. Second is determination of what to do with the Ruhr and Rhineland, Germany's richest industrial areas on the French border. Third is minor revisions on the borders of Holland and Belgium.

Economic questions are principally the unification of Germany so as to treat it as one country instead of four zones and whether to revise the previously agreed on level of production which will determine Germany's future standard of living.

Demilitarization of Germany will be considered in connection with the American proposal first advanced by former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, for a treaty to keep Germany disarmed for 25 or 40 years.

IN SPITE OF HIS refusal to lay down his hand before the bidding starts, there is little likelihood that Secretary Marshall will make any great change in American policy. The lines previously laid down by Secretary Byrnes will still stand. They were clearly drawn in Byrnes' speech before German officials of the American zone at Stuttgart, last September.

Most important point in this policy was that there should be early establishment of a provisional central German government, with which a treaty of peace could be signed. Byrnes specified it should not be a hand-picked government of top officials chosen by the occupying powers and imposed on the German people from the top down. Instead, he said, it should be made up of responsible officials elected by the German people themselves in each of the "Laender" or states of the four zones.

But This Is Different, We Hope!

'The Warmer World Of Yesterday'

By H. B. BINNY

THE FOLLOWING rather provocative paragraph appeared in the Victoria Daily Times on March 4:

"The great continent of Antarctica, buried under one-third of a mile of ice, once was covered by dense forests. How else explain great coal deposits?"

How else, indeed? But the chief difficulty is to reconcile the presence of forests with an ice-cap one-third of a mile thick. Let us hark back somewhat and see what we can discover about the periods antedating the arrival of Man on the earth.

It is to be remembered that Man has been here a very short time if we consider his existence in relation to the existence of the earth. The start of the Ice Ages preceded him by about 70,000,000 years and, for a further 280,000,000 years previous to that, the whole world was enjoying a very desirable climate, the Poles included. There were no Polar, Temperate or Equatorial Zones and, if we had been living then, we could have traveled the world over without worrying about taking along the heavy underwear or, on the other hand, tropical garments.

During this pleasant era the same plants flourished within a few degrees of the Poles as within a few degrees of the Equator. Botanical upheaval was brought on by and succeeded the Ice Ages; the "Cretaceous" Age is recognized as a rather revolutionary period in plant history.

It would appear that not so much has been discovered regarding the florae of Antarctica as concerning those of the Arctic. The second Scott expedition to the South Pole in 1912 brought to light traces of the "Glossopteris" flora in the region of the Beardmore Glacier which, while 300 miles from the Pole, is, nevertheless, well within the Antarctic Circle. "Glossopteris" rather resembles the "Hart's Tongue" on account of the distinctive leaves. Another flora was found far closer to the Pole itself, "Rhexoxylon," considered to be the ancestor of the present-day tropical lianas, has been identified from Antarctica. The leaves of the Beech and other dicotyledons have appeared in Graham Land.

NUMEROUS CONIFERS Apparently, also, there were numerous conifers; not, perhaps, like our modern spruces, firs and pines. These would probably include representatives of the extinct "Cordaites" which were tall and slender with narrow leaves two to three feet long. Conifers now very restricted in range but formerly widespread are such as "Glyptostrobus" of China, "Sciadopitys," now represented by the Japanese umbrella pine, "Cryptomeria," now a native of the Far East but common as an exotic all round Victoria, "Arthrotaxis" of Australia, the giant "Sequoias" or redwoods of California, "Taxodium" of the southeastern United States and Mexico and others.

Any or all of these could very easily be among the 13 coniferous genera attributed to Antarctica. Tree ferns up to 50 feet in height (Marattiales) probably accompanied the conifers with a considerable variety of ground ferns to compose the forest floor.

FORMED ANTARCTIC COAL These plants were the material from which the coal deposits of Antarctica were formed and well developed trees at one time flourished south of latitude 80 S. The advances of the ice caps which are, geologically, very modern would have little or no influence on coal formation; it would be like putting a second lid on a box already well and truly sealed.

NUMEROUS CONIFERS Apparently, also, there were numerous conifers; not, perhaps, like our modern spruces, firs and pines. These would probably include representatives of the ex-

India—The Die Is Cast

By FRANK B. WALKER from London

VISCOUNT TEMPLEWOOD moved the motion:

"That the decision of His Majesty's government to hand over India to an Indian government or governments in June, 1948, under conditions which appear to be in conflict with previous declarations of the government on this subject, and without any provisions for the protection of minorities or the discharge of their other obligations is likely to imperil the peace and prosperity of India."

And with these words began a debate in the House of Lords which the Manchester Guardian described as "historic" and the London Times as "truly great." The debate must be pictured against its setting. In the Commons the great decision had been made. Prime Minister Clement Attlee had announced Britain would quit India. He had named the date and 190 years of history were drawing to a close.

EXPERTS The King's Robing Room was crowded. Privy Counsellors were reclining on the steps of the Throne. Facing each other across the narrow chamber were some of the world's greatest experts on India. There was Lord Halifax, one of the greatest of viceroys. There was Viscount Templewood, who spent seven long years on the India Act. There was Lord Pethick Lawrence, the present Secretary of State for India. The galleries were packed. The air seemed charged. The Conservative peers were threatening to divide the House and no one knew what effect such an adverse vote might have in India. The small handful of Labor peers were outnumbered more than two to one.

It was against this background, that Viscount Templewood made his indictment. He charged that by its declaration the government had broken the pledge that the transfer of power would be orderly, that it would only follow on general agreement among the Indian parties and that it would fulfill all obligations to the minorities and the princes. This, he said, "a gambler's throw." The proposals were unworkable. They were "politically unwise; they would make inevitable 'the fragmentation of India.'"

WHAT ALTERNATIVE?

He was followed by Lord Samuel. What was the alternative, he asked? It would be the worst possible course to proclaim a policy Britain could not execute. He saw in the policy of Mr. Churchill a return to policies which had been responsible for the two greatest failures of British history, the loss of the American colonies and the failure in Ireland.

Lord Pethick Lawrence made the first reply for the government. He also asked, what was the alternative? The only course to do something and anything that was done must inevitably be fraught with risk.

These were all magnificent speeches. But even these were to fade when the debate was resumed the following afternoon. It fell to Lord Halifax to deliver a speech veterans of Parliament have described as "the greatest of his career."

Single-handed he turned the tide against the Conservative majority. He supported the government. Now there was no doubt of the issue. Lord Jowitt spoke, the Archbishop of Canterbury spoke.

The Viscount Cranborne, leader of the opposition, rose to announce the Conservatives would not divide.

There will be other debates on India but by the time they take place it will be too late to turn back the clock. For better or for worse, the die has been cast. Now Moslem and Hindu are faced with their freedom. What they do with it will be of their own making.

LOOKING FOR A BLUEBIRD Man-in-the-Street in Newspaper World

Amid snow and storm, burst pipes, fuel cuts, comes a heart-cry from a reader of the Sunday Express asking, "Could not the Press do a little more towards reviving that spirit of happiness and the feeling that life is worth living if we help to make it so?"

Why should not a Happiness Campaign be the Press's (ugh!) very serious and immediate concern? Some weeks ago, the Daily Mail was carrying "Good News" shoulder heads but these have disappeared, and so far there has been no published response to the Daily Express invitation to readers to send in cheerful intelligence.

To make a story of the apparent absence of good news would be piling on the agony and, with the Press Commission hanging over our heads, it would never do to lay ourselves open to the charge of wilfully perverting news so as to make our readers see life through rose-colored spectacles. Perhaps the spring-time will help to dispense the dark clouds, although for my part I winter of discontent would be made less inglorious by a York ham . . .

WHY ARE WOMEN'S HATS? Isabel Hill in the Ottawa Citizen "What on earth is that on your head, Eve?" asked Adam. Eve preened herself and gazed at her reflection in a woodland pool.

"It's a hat," she said with simple pride. "I made it myself." "But what's it for?" Adam persisted. "It looks silly to me." "The idea!" Eve was slightly ruffled. "I have to have something on my head, don't I? Besides, I was feeling blue, and this has cheered me up."

In some such way hats came into being.

THE BOERS CHEER

London (Ont.) Free Press Descendants of those sturdy Boers who about 50 years ago sniped at British redcoats from behind every little rock and kopje are cheering the King and Queen on their South African journey. At Stellenbosch, for example, the Royal Family was greeted with spontaneous cheering from blacks and whites, Boers and English-speaking citizens. The King, who is there as King of South Africa, made a most favorable impression, a triumph of personality.

To those who recall the South African War, its three years of bitter strife, our egregious errors, the ebb and flow of battle, such reverses as we suffered at Magerfontein, the sieges of Mafeking and Ladysmith, the final assault on Cronje, the daring commando work of such leaders as De Wet, the magnificent strategy of men like Smuts and Botha, the present royal visit makes very satisfactory reading. And we should realize that much of this happy issue we owe to Campbell Bannerman who was chiefly responsible for the wise and tolerant peace which Britain made with the Boers after the war.

BREAD AND BOOKS

Christian Science Monitor People have not yet learned how to discover books in the running brooks. And some of them find very cold sermons in the stones which are all that confront them when they ask for bread.

The past week or two has seen a renewed appeal for food to help the millions who are still near the edge of slow starvation. While the production of food is higher in the United States than ever before in its history, we learn that the rest of the world may continue hungry for five years.

Yet the world is hungry not only for bread, but for books. There is an old Arabian proverb: "If I have two loaves of bread, I will sell one and buy a book." This was quoted last year by a former Axis national, who added: "We need the one loaf—desperately—but we also need the books, the ideas, that make life more than a struggle for animal existence."

Seeking Immigrants

By LEWIS MILLIGAN BRITAIN IS A LAND of paradoxes, and here is the latest. The London Times is urging the Labor government to consider the advisability of starting a program of immigration to the United Kingdom as an answer to the acute manpower shortage problem. At the same time London reports that over 300,000 people in Britain are awaiting transportation to new homes in the dominions.

"The case for selective immigration of up to 500,000 foreign workers during the next few years is exceedingly strong," says the Times. "It is regrettable that neither the government nor the labor movement appears to have given much thought to it." The National News Letter goes further, and says: "We think the government would be abundantly justified in arranging for immigration at once of not less than 250,000 foreigners. And as a footnote to this plan we hasten to add that we would warmly support any proposals (such as an assisted passage scheme) for enabling any in the dominions who wish to throw in their lot with these islands to migrate."

NEED MORE MINERS

A significant sidelight is thrown on this situation by an editorial in the Manchester Guardian commenting on the coal mine labor shortage. The Guardian says: "There will not be enough suitable men among Poles in this country—indeed there are said to be only 170 experienced miners who can be employed at once. We must therefore recruit other labor from Europe."

A start should be made quickly. It is also significant that these newspaper references to immigration came on the day after the National Mine Workers' Union, after a year's consideration, announced its willingness to tolerate the employment of Polish labor in the nationalized coal mines.

150 Drowned When Yangtze Ship Burns

NANKING (AP)—A steamship company agent said here Sunday 150 people-stricken passengers and crew members of a Yangtze River steamboat leaped into the water and drowned when the craft took fire.

The agent said another 150 who had jumped into the water were rescued by another ship which was nearby. He said fire started in the engine room of the ill-fated 800-ton vessel while it was proceeding at full steam a few miles west of the important river port of Kluksian.

10 Planes Burned

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Fire of undetermined origin Sunday night destroyed the No. 1 hangar of the St. Catharines Airport and 10 aircraft, property of the St. Catharines Flying Club or individual club members. The loss, third suffered by the club since its organization in 1927, is estimated at more than $100,000.

Bread Costs More In U.S.; Rise In Wheat, Flour Prices Blamed

CHICAGO (AP)—Soaring wheat prices struck United States consumers today. A survey showed bread has been raised from a cent to three cents a loaf in many principal cities as wheat at major grain terminals brought the highest prices since 1920.

An Atlanta grocery concern announced the sharpest advance reported, a three-cent boost to 17 cents for a 24-ounce loaf. In New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Mich., Cleveland, Indianapolis, Ind., and Los Angeles the consumers have been tagged for a cent or two more on each loaf.

A bakery spokesman at Minneapolis warned consumers there to brace themselves for a one-cent boost, which he said, would cover only a small portion of increased costs.

In Canada the wheat board raised its price of wheat for export to countries other than Britain five cents a bushel, effective today. The new price is $2.80 a bushel, highest since September, 1920.

Texas and Oklahoma mills were reported searching for wheat in the spring wheat territory of the northwest, while mills in that area were having difficulty in obtaining the grade and quality desired.

In the last seven weeks wheat has soared around 50 cents a bushel. Flour prices have been increased in line with the wheat advance.

Sales, Meal Taxes Rumored In Ontario To Fill Revenue Gap
TORONTO (CP)—Though the third session of the 22nd Ontario Legislature is only two days old and still is engaged in routine business, speculation is rife as to tax plans of the government.

This tax talk arises from the Throne Speech announcement that "because of the refusal of the Dominion government to call another Dominion-Provincial conference," there would be no new agreement with the Dominion to replace the wartime tax agreement of 1942 which expires at the end of this month.

The government gave no official indication as to what steps it would take to raise its own revenue and possibly that will not be known until Provincial Treasurer Frost brings down his budget later in the session, but in opposition circles the announcement was viewed with interest. Liberal opposition leader Fairclough Oliver will open the debate on the Throne Speech tomorrow. C.C.F. spokesmen say they are prepared for the debate, but they decline to define their attitude in advance.

The Dominion proposals to replace the wartime tax agreement—which Ontario did not accept—called for surrender of personal, corporation and estate taxes to the federal government in return for a guaranteed minimum annual subsidy of $67,158,000 with higher payments determined by the province's contribution to the gross annual product in a given year. The subsidy this year, for example, would have worked out to $73,969,000.

A Queen's Park source said the problem facing the provincial government now is to raise some $74,000,000 to fill this gap in revenue.

One high government source told the Canadian Press the fact Ontario now would have to raise its own revenue "did not necessarily mean double taxation"—a duplication of Dominion and provincial taxes.

It is reported the government

Apoplectic Stroke Kills 100,000 Old People Each Year
Apoplexy is one of the worst dangers of old age. Apoplexy results from the rupture of a blood vessel in the brain. It strikes with sudden and dramatic speed. It can kill in a single smashing blow or it can leave its victims shambling, half-paralyzed wrecks until it strikes again all because of a break in the arterial lifeline.

Now a potential cure for apoplexy is in the offering. The new drug is called Rutin, its main use is to strengthen the arteries so that the blood lines will not break.

Complete information, case histories and a chart showing how apoplectic strokes occur is carried in the March 15th edition of Collier's Magazine. It can be read at your magazine dealer.

Oak Bay To Meet B.C. Cabinet Tuesday On Willows Issue

Reeve, Walter Walker announced today Oak Bay will meet the provincial cabinet tomorrow at 11 to protest against the Horse Racing Regulation Act, introduced in the House recently by Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer.

The proposed amendment would give the provincial government the power, under order-in-council, to determine the dates on which horse racing will be permitted on any of the tracks covered by the present act, after approval by the federal department of agriculture.

Construction by a track owner of any buildings, such as stables and grandstands, that may be necessary for the conduct of race meetings, is also authorized in the bill.

It was pointed out the proposed legislation would nullify the recent amended zoning regulations of the Willows Park which Oak Bay passed to change the fair grounds and race track into a residential area.

The Trawler Strike Issue

IS THIS UNIONISM OR RESTRAINT OF TRADE?

Let the Public Judge

The action of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union in ordering that no fish from beam trawlers must be sold to the independent fish buyers and wholesalers until a minimum price is established, but permitting the fish from beam trawlers to be sold to the Fishermen's Co-operative Association at whatever the market will bring, is a dangerous precedent that has important meanings to British Columbia, its fishermen and its industries. Here are the facts:

- On February 22 the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union instructed the beam trawl fishermen not to sell to the independent fish buying companies until a fixed minimum price is guaranteed. The Union, however, allows the beam trawl fishermen to sell to the Fishermen's Co-operative Association without any price guarantee. In other words, the Co-operative pays what the market will allow. This can be interpreted as a trend to monopoly.
- The Union claims that there is no strike in progress. The United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, by ordering that no beam trawl fishing vessel shall sell fish to the independent fish buying companies, is dictating to the fishermen—who are not employees but independent producers and sellers of a product of trade—in an apparent attempt to control the distribution as well as the production of beam trawl fishing. Is this restraint of trade?
- The Union has admitted the necessity for flexibility of price by: (a) Permitting the Co-operative to pay what the market will bear, and (b) suggesting that the proposed minimum price schedule to the independents could be terminated or revised on two weeks' notice. (They say that this provides the necessary flexibility.) The flaws in this proposal are that it lacks flexibility in a market that is in a period of postwar adjustment and, most important, does not guarantee that another stoppage to the independent fishing companies will not result in two weeks' time.
- The products of the beam trawl—sole and cod species—are suited only to the fresh fish or frozen fish trade. Only a limited quantity can be marketed in fresh condition and the balance must be frozen and stored, and even then the storage period is limited. Frozen fish is a perishable product, not like wheat that can be stored until a more favorable market develops, or that can even be sent to nations of Europe or Asia if over-supply develops in North American markets, as now threatens. (Refrigerated shipping space is scarce and facilities to handle frozen foods are even more difficult to find in food deficient countries.)
- The improvement of the meat supply situation in Canada and, more important, in the United States, which is Canada's best fish customer, has changed the sellers' market of the past year to a shrunken and highly competitive buyers' market. In it are competing the fisheries of British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Newfoundland, Iceland and the east and west coasts of the United States. The ability to maintain British Columbia sales of beam trawl fishery products depends entirely upon our ability to adjust to this new condition of the world fish markets.
- By its action in preventing the beam trawl fishing vessels from disposing of their catches to the independent fish dealers and wholesalers, the Union has discriminated against its own members who are employed by the independent companies. Already many have had to be laid off and more unemployment will follow if this dictatorial attitude of the Union continues. At the same time Union employees of the Fishermen's Co-operative Association will be kept employed handling the products of the beam trawl fishing vessels, products which should keep Union employees of ALL fishing companies busy.

The independent fishing companies of British Columbia are not trying to lower prices to the beam trawl fishermen. They are simply pointing out that if the beam trawl fishermen wish to continue to sell their catches to the fish markets of North America they must continue to accept the prices offered by those markets. By insisting upon a minimum guaranteed price for beam trawl fish, the Union is actually trying to regulate world fish market prices, which is obviously impossible.

The alternate conclusion, of course, is that by refusing to sell to any buyer except the co-operatives at free market prices, the Union is creating a monopoly in this one fish marketing agency. The result of a continuation of this policy by the Union may very well be that by means of using the Fishermen's Co-operative movement as an unintentional instrument, absolute control over beam trawl fishing will be secured by the Union.

By ROBERT N. COOL

Moscow's mysterious Kremlin, political heart of the Soviet Union, shares the world spotlight with several outside structures where the entourage of the Big Four foreign ministers will live and work during the conference starting March 10. From the sidelines, it will exert a powerful influence on negotiations.

Accustomed to looking toward the ancient Moscow citadel for direction and inspiration, 197,000-000 Russians also will keep their eyes on the elaborate Red Air Force Officers' Club in a suburb of the snow-mantled Soviet capital city where the Big Four Foreign Ministers will be attempting to thrash out the momentous issues of the German and Austrian peace treaties.

Britain's Ernest Bevin will make the British embassy his headquarters, across the frozen Moscow river from the Kremlin. Gen. George C. Marshall, the U.S. Secretary of State, is scheduled to stay in Spassko House, the residence of U.S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith. The French embassy, where Foreign Minister Georges Bidault is expected to live, also views Premier Joseph Stalin's Kremlin stronghold from beyond the ice.

Within the walled enclosure, a citadel older than Russia as a nation, all important Soviet decisions are made. Because of this, the Kremlin will play an important behind-the-scenes role in the Big Four meetings.

Far back in antiquity the Kremlin was the walled town of Moscow. Later its 30 acres became the court of the Czars, residence of the nobility, seat of the church and fortress of the military that clamped ever-increasing millions of Russians in subjection.

After the 1917 revolution the Kremlin's palaces, barracks and cathedrals became the tight center of the U.S.S.R. Most of the officials and Communist party leaders live in the compound; visitors can enter only under close watchfulness. Stalin has a fine home a few miles away on the Moscow river, but in the Kremlin is his spacious office and a small apartment where he often stays.

An 18th century building of classic design houses the Central Executives and Council of People's Commissars—key government bodies.

There are likely to be many times within the next few weeks when momentous decisions will be thrashed out by the Soviet hierarchy behind the Kremlin's 50-foot-high brick walls.

Shaped like an isosceles triangle, the Kremlin contains about 40 structures in all, some dating from the 15th century. It is an architectural hodgepodge, reflecting the tastes of Czars since the Middle Ages—many of the ornate edifices being built of pale pink stone. Originally it was an isolated trading post on an island hill. Now the city presses close about it, like Rome about the Vatican.

Famed Red Square lies just outside the Spasski Gate. There, before the tomb of Lenin, modern Russian history has passed in review. One of the toughest sieges of the Red revolution in 1917 was capture of the Kremlin, then an arsenal.

Some buildings were damaged and the Soviet government has built a modern auditorium within the walls; but time affects the Kremlin's appearance little, and reconstruction is aimed at preserving the old characteristics.

It still is the symbol of Russia to the outside world, and one of the most potent 30 acres anywhere.

... that their driving safety depends on the accuracy of the frame and the alignment of the wheels of their car.

... that some of the new tires weigh as much as 10 ounces more on one side than the other.

... that they can have all three of these items checked and corrected at Mooney's Auto Body Shop.

Mooney's have a Frame Straightening Machine with the most up-to-date Bear Equipment, one of only two on Vancouver Island. With this equipment it is possible to check, and, if necessary, straighten the frame of a car without taking the car apart. It is also possible to straighten a bent axle without removing it. Thus it is possible to get a true reading of the steering geometry and to insure correct camber and caster of the front wheels because the weight of the car is on the axle.

The term "wheel balancing" is not generally understood by the average car owner. It consists of adding small specially designed weights to the wheels to offset inequalities in the construction of the tire. This unbalanced condition creates uneven wear on the bearings and tires and at high speeds is extremely dangerous. The wheel balancing equipment determines the correct distribution of weight in the wheel and the amount to be added for proper balancing.

To operate this equipment, men have to be experts. Mooney's have put themselves to considerable expense to send Mac Houston to Rock Island, Illinois, to take a special course in the operation of Bear Equipment. He is one of 29 Canadians to take the course and the only Authorized Bear Service Operator in Victoria. Assisting him on the machine are Paul Klatt, with four years' experience on Bear Equipment in Regina, and Harry Smith, with two years' experience as an apprentice.

This team of highly skilled men is engaged exclusively in the straightening of frames and axles and wheel balancing.

Thus with the best possible equipment and the most highly trained personnel, Mooney's Auto Body Shop at 514 Cormorant Street and 1128 Vancouver Street, is able to give motorists the best service in Victoria today.

This is the first of a series of articles of interest to the driving public. We will be pleased to answer any questions of a similar nature in future articles.

Legion Education
Service Continues

Nearly 20 per cent of the patients in Department of Veterans' Affairs hospitals across Canada are taking Canadian Legion educational courses through D.V.A.

Rt. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Veterans' Minister, reported today. He pointed out that the Legion educational services, which did such a valuable job in serving personnel overseas, was continuing its service in this direction under the sponsorship of the department.

The minister said that of 10,992 veteran-patients in department institutions in January of this year 1,879 were taking C.L.E.S. correspondence courses at no cost to themselves. Courses are open to ex-servicemen and women and service personnel.

U.S. Harvester
Prices Reduced

CHICAGO (AP)—The International Harvester Company Saturday announced it would institute before April 1 "substantial reductions" in prices of approximately half its line of tractors, farm machines, motor trucks and industrial power equipment, which would save consumers an estimated $20,000,000 annually.

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Claude Lockhard, president of the International Harvester Company of Canada, said there would be no immediate change in retail prices of his company's farm implements, but that "reductions in prices of those items imported will be passed on to the consumers."

Mr. Lockhard said here that because of high cost of labor and materials it was impossible at present to cut Canadian prices, but hoped reductions would be made before next year.

Jean Gray Married At Belmont United

Mauve and white stocks and daffodils provided a colorful setting for the ceremony at Belmont United Church Friday evening which united in marriage, Margaret Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Gray, 1741 Duchess Street, and Melvin Gregory, youngest son of Mrs. G. Gregory of Vancouver and the late Mr. Gregory.

Rev. H. W. Kerley read the nuptial service for which traditional music was played by Miss Hicks.

In contrast with the bride's reseda green dressmaker suit with green and brown flower hat, was her corsage bouquet of red roses and white heather. Her accessories were brown and she wore a gold wrist watch, gift of the groom, and a hand-carved bapin, worn by her grandmother at her wedding 60 years ago.

Miss Phyllis Gray wearing a pearl grey suit cut on dressmaker lines complemented with a dusty rose-flowered hat and matching accessories, attended her sister. Her corsage bouquet was of pink rosebuds and heather.

Jack A. Allison acted as groomsmen and ushering were Rene Blair and Phil LaMare of Duncan.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Allison, 3059 Washington Avenue, where Mrs. Gray and Mrs. Gregory assisted the couple in welcoming guests.

A corsage bouquet of pink carnations and violets was presented to the honor guest, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Elda Leverage, received narcissi and violets. Gifts were presented in a treasure chest decorated in St. Patrick's Day colors. Others present were Misses Judy Arnold, Margaret Bird, Joan Burne, Lea Cumberland, Dorothy Smith and Pat Waring.

Nuptial Vows For Anne Coles

A gown of ivory slipper satin, featuring sweetheart neckline, lily-point sleeves, long fitted bodice and full skirt, slightly en train, was worn by Catherine Anne, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Coles, 68 Gorge Road West, when she exchanged nuptial vows Saturday at 7.30 in the chapel at H.M.C.S. Glenchy, with P.O. Geoffrey Charles Jones, R.C.N., second son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Jones, Lethbridge, Alta.

A Mary Stuart headdress held the bride's full-length embroidered veil and her only jewelry was a three-strand pearl necklace. She carried a white prayer book topped with baby white orchids and freesias.

A gown of blue net over taffeta was worn by Miss Evelyn Coles as she attended her sister. Her short veil of ecru net was held with gardenias and she carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations, heather and violets.

Mr. Coles gave his daughter in marriage in the ceremony performed by Rev. Father La Porte, Senior Fleet Chaplain. P.O. John Rogers, R.C.N., a shipmate of the groom, was best man.

A reception for 100 guests was held at Hotel Strathcona, where Mrs. Coles and Mrs. Jones assisted the couple in receiving. A three-tier wedding cake, flanked by lighted white tapers and vases of spring flowers, centred the table. The bridal toast was given by David Decker, a close friend of the family.

P.O. and Mrs. Jones will spend their honeymoon at Yellow Point Lodge, V.I., following which, they will return to the city to make their home at 3384 Douglas Street.

The bride changed to a cloud grey dressmaker suit with cherry topcoat and black plastic accessories, for traveling.

Pioneer U.S. Feminist Dies At 88, Worked For Peace

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, 88, pioneer suffragist and a crusader for world peace died Sunday of a heart attack at her home here.

A life-long champion of her sex and of international amity since the 1920's, Mrs. Catt retained her interest in both fields until her death.

Miss Mary Gray Peck, biographer of the suffragist, said that only Saturday Mrs. Catt was engaged in preparing a collection of photographs of the women's rights movement which she planned to give the Susan B. Anthony Memorial at Rochester, N.Y.

Late CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT

In recent years women leaders from many parts of the world had made pilgrimages to the New Rochelle home where Mrs. Catt had lived since 1928. With the coming of the United Nations to this country, virtually all of the U.N. women attaches came to see her.

Born Carrie Lane in Ripon, Wis., Jan. 9, 1859, Mrs. Catt attended the Iowa State College at Ames, where she plunged into the fight for women's rights by obtaining physical education instruction for women students.

In 1884 she was married to Leo Chapman, editor of the Mason City Republican, who died two years later.

A widow at the age of 27, she went to work on a San Francisco commercial paper. In 1887, he returned to Iowa, made her first suffrage speech at Marshalltown and started out as organizer for the Iowa Woman Suffrage Association.

She never ceased to work for women's rights thereafter. From 1900 to 1904 she was president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, succeeding Susan B. Anthony. She became president again in 1915, and continued in that position until the end of the campaign to obtain the vote for U.S. women in 1920.

Her interests turning to the cause of peace, Mrs. Catt became a member of the woman's committee of the Council of National Defence and then founded the National Committee of the Cause and Cure of War.

In her second marriage she became the wife of George William Catt, a civil engineer, in Seattle in 1890. He died in 1905.

Oklahoma Explosion Kills 1, Injures 4

BLACKWELL, Okla. (AP)—An explosion and fire at a gas company compressor station Sunday night killed one man, injured four others and shut off service to industrial users in two states.

Officials estimated the loss at more than $1,000,000. One of the crew on duty, Ralph McCormick, 38, an oiler, was killed.

Buildings housing the booster plant, auxiliary plant, office building and cooling tower were damaged.

Industrial gas users in Kansas and Missouri will be shut off until normal service is restored, probably tomorrow, officials said.

16 Charged When Police Make Raids

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sixteen men and women face liquor, morality and vagrancy charges here as a result of raids made on two east-end hotels Sunday by city police.

Five of the men charged were U.S. soldiers and one was a U.S. sailor.

George R. Lundsgaard, 50, was charged with keeping a disorderly house and two men and two women were charged as inmates. Frank Chovin and two soldiers were charged with supplying liquor to Indians. Others face vagrancy charges.

Some insecticides are toxic if inhaled too freely, and it is not advisable to stay in their vapors for long periods. Doctors also advise protection of the eyes when using sprays.

Striking Coal Miners In Line-up For Weekly Grocery Relief Order

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Scenes reminiscent of the bitter 1924 coal strike were witnessed in Maritime mining towns today as miners lined up for strike benefits—first payments of the three-week-old tie-up.

But instead of the box of groceries rationed out on the former occasion, each miner was receiving an order drawn on his own merchant. Each single man receives a $3 order, and each married man $5, with an additional $1 for each child.

There were no signs of let-up in the 50-pit strike as 13,000 miners began their fourth week of idleness with assurances from their union president that "We will stick it out to the finish. We are going to get what we're looking for."

Main demand of the miners is a $1.40-a-day basic wage increase from operators, chief of whom is the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

Meanwhile, coal supplies from the New Brunswick Minto coal belt to the province's Electric Power Commission's plant were shut off Saturday. Although the 700 Minto miners joined the general walkout three weeks ago, some deliveries had been allowed to continue to the generating plant.

Dan MacDonald, secretary of the United Mine Workers' local, said arrangements could be made with the power commission for supplies of coal to provide power for educational institutions and hospitals. He stipulated, however, that none should be diverted to industrial installations. He said this and the matter of power for householders would have to be worked out by negotiation between the union and commission.

"Bootleg" coal mining, which, although illegal, has flourished here since the strike began, received official notice from union headquarters Sunday night. It was announced that a "control board" would be set up to ensure fair distribution of the black diamonds. Pickets were also to be stationed on highways to see that none should be spirited away from the mining area.

Old Cache In N. W. Territories Causes Speculation; May Open

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Troops stationed at Fort Churchill, Manitoba's outpost on the coast of Hudson's Bay, may be called on to contribute to Canada's past as well as her future if a suggestion by I. H. Smith, a Churchill trader, is acted upon.

The veteran trader recalled recently that 19 years ago—in 1928—he discovered a long-lost cache in an isolated part of the Northwest Territories, a cache which he believes may throw new light on the early history of Canadian exploration.

His suggestion, made last Saturday, is that a detachment of troops from the Churchill base trek to lonely Nuelin Lake in the territories northwest of their station and open the well-constructed cache to see what it contains.

Such an investigation by the troops, who are currently testing equipment which may in future become standard with military units stationed in the north, could easily provide the Dominion with information hitherto unknown about early treks into the vast hinterlands of the northwest, Mr. Smith believes.

The cache, he said, was made of timbers, squared in such a way that "some cranky Scotsman or careful Englishman must have supervised the building—no native ever squared timbers like that."

Following the northland's respect for caches, Mr. Smith said he did not disturb it when he first stumbled on the 15-foot box-like affair.

MUST REMOVE STONE

"Nobody with the soul of a louse would touch a cache," he said. "However, if the Canadian historical branch ever decides to inspect it, maybe some of the troops making treks out of Churchill could be detailed to make the inspection. But they would have to be prepared for a lot of work. About 20 tons of rock are heaped on the timbered box on the side of a hill."

He did not hazard a guess as to what the cache might contain, but said that it had probably been constructed at least a century ago by an early group of explorers.

Gets Shore Berth

Cmdr. E. T. "Ted" Simmons, D.S.O., D.S.C., of Victoria, has been appointed executive officer of H.M.C.S. Discovery, shore establishment of the Canadian Navy at Vancouver. It is announced by Cmdr. K. C. McRae, O.B.E., commanding officer. Cmdr. Simmons has an outstanding war record, having won the D.S.C. as first lieutenant of H.M.C.S. Chambly for gallantry during an attack on an enemy submarine in 1942, and the D.S.O. while in command of a Canadian corvette group in the Mediterranean the following year. He is best known as commander of Victoria's frigate Beacon Hill, and with the termination of the war held the post of executive officer of H.M.C.S. Stadacona, Halifax naval training centre.

A crop of hair on the head lasts from two to four years but normally its loss is imperceptible as a new one has meanwhile arisen to take its place.

War Romance

Instead of a honeymoon, Eroeda Sinitskaya, 25, now in San Francisco, awaits a voyage back to Shanghai. A "stateless" Russian, Miss Sinitskaya came here expecting to marry ex-Sgt. Harry LeRoy Donaldson of Cameron, Mo., whom she met when he was stationed in Shanghai, where she was teaching Russian. His letter, explaining he had remarried his divorced wife, reached her, but not until she disembarked on U.S. shores. Now she hopes for a six-month visitors' permit.

High School Bazaar Raises $2,000 For Junior Red Cross

Officials at Victoria High School announced today that approximately $2,000 had been raised at the two-night circus bazaar held at the school March 7 and 8. The bazaar is an annual affair at the school, held in aid of the Junior Red Cross Society.

Victoria High is the only school in the Dominion where such an ambitious undertaking is attempted. Every student and member of the teaching staff spent much time and trouble to make the affair a success.

Although this year's total is not a record, members of the committee in charge were pleased with the amount. Members of the committee are Miss J. Thomas, Miss S. Johnson and H. D. Dee.

Ptomaine Poisoning Causes Woman's Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young bride of eight months, Mrs. Ruth Cooperman, died Sunday night and her husband was taken to a hospital in critical condition, believed to be the result of ptomaine poisoning.

Mrs. Ruth Cooperman was 17 years of age.

Plight of the young couple was discovered by a brother-in-law, Lloyd Tufts, who climbed into an open window in their Kitsilano district home when no response was received to a knock on the door.

Tufts summoned the fire department inhalator squad and the family physician, Dr. Earl Kliffer. After an hour's efforts by the inhalator squad had failed to revive Mrs. Cooperman, Dr. Kliffer pronounced her dead.

Domestic breeds of turkeys include Bronze, White Holland and Narragansett, the three most important being the Bourbon Red, Black and Slate.

The word fossil is derived from the Latin word meaning to dig.

Where you can't just "PHONE THE DOCTOR!"

THE day of the struggling pioneer is not past. Today, in many frontier districts of Canada, families are struggling against great odds to open up new territories and to make a living. Isolated by distance and meagre transportation, these families live in loneliness and in primitive conditions. When accident or sickness strikes, the nearest doctor may be more than 100 miles away.

In such remote regions, the Canadian Red Cross operates Outpost Hospitals and Nursing Stations. Many dramatic stories could be written of the mercy services rendered by these hospitals and by the valiant Red Cross Outpost Nurses. Space permits only the citing of a few figures.

ONE YEAR'S RECORD

In 54 Red Cross Outpost Hospitals

40,000 (approx.) patients were treated

2,000 babies were born

5,000 operations were performed

550 clinics were held and some 17,000 children examined

To continue and further this great work the Red Cross urgently needs money. Every dollar you can give will represent you and your share in these many "good deeds".

LOANS... for better tools

THE story of human achievement is revealed in the tools men use. With the fashioning of the first simple tool, man's progress began. With the creation of those elaborate modern tools we call machines, mankind leaped forward to new conquests over time, space and the material world.

The Bank of Toronto, for more than 90 years, has materially assisted enterprising Canadians. The mass production for better living made possible by machines, has created a new sense of urgency... as industry concentrates on the continuous betterment of the equipment it uses. And the financial problems involved in keeping pace with modern improvements are considerable.

These are the problems this Bank specializes in helping you solve. The tools, machines and equipment required often call for credit, to ease the way to the fulfilment of far-visioned planning. Your own plans may be large or small but if it's credit you need, call in and talk them over.

Motion Pictures Produced By B.C. Film Company

Since its formation less than a year ago, the North American Productions, an all-Canadian motion picture company, has produced three 16-millimeter films in British Columbia which are now ready for release, according to Bob Willett, former announcer at radio station CJVI, and now acting, writing and publicity agent for the company.

The films are photographed in natural color. They are "Dope on the Slopes," a ski picture featuring former service entertainer Frank Dowie; "The Changeling Princess," a fantasy, and "Rene-gade Gold," a western picture based on the life of Bill North, a famous outlaw.

Plans are under way for extensive motion picture activity on Vancouver Island—in and around Victoria, along the Malahat, and north of Nanaimo, Mr. Willett said.

Jack Bowdery, producer for the firm, said the difficulty in producing Canadian films is the lack of original scripts. He added the firm intends to use 35-millimeter film as soon as equipment is available.

2 Hamilton Men Wounded By Thugs In Card Game Raid

HAMILTON (CP)—Victims of gun-wielding hold-up men, two Hamilton men today were in hospital, one of them wounded critically as he resisted an attempt to hold up a card game in a Hamilton home early Sunday.

Norman Smith was shot at point-blank range by one of the bandits after he had aimed a blow at the man, and Arthur Campbell was shot as he attempted to pursue the robbers on foot. A bullet was removed from Smith's spine after he had been shot through the stomach, but his condition was critical. Campbell was wounded in the leg.

The two hold-up men fled without taking any of the loot after they had surprised 10 men playing cards early Sunday in the basement of an Edgar Avenue house.

"Hold 'em up; we ain't kidding," one of the two young armed thugs told the party.

The bandits stepped back to the door and suddenly Norman Smith launched a blow at one of them. Recovering his balance, the thug fired at Smith and they both fled.

The men in the room ran in pursuit and Campbell headed them. He ran to the rear of the bandit car, a shot was fired and he fell saying, "They've got me." Police said they believed the men came from "out of town, probably Toronto."

The affray was the latest in a series of armed hold-ups of gambling games in Ontario and police surmised that a number of Vancouver thugs have come east to escape the gangland purge opened in the B.C. city.

CALGARY (CP)—A proposed rerunning on May 24 of the Western Riding Club's 30-mile race in the Pirmez Creek district has been called off, officials of the club announced during the week-end.

The DOCTOR Says:

MOST ADDICTS USE DRUGS BEFORE 30

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Stopping any drug which has been taken for a long time may cause a psychologic upset (habituations). If in addition to a craving for it the patient becomes ill from its withdrawal, the condition is called addiction.

It is possible to become accustomed to taking any kind of medicine, including pink pills, but stopping these types is not a serious problem. In true addiction, which results from continued use of morphine, cocaine, or marijuana, the body does not function properly for some time after they are discontinued.

Drugs which relieve pain are among the most valuable discoveries of man. Lives are saved by their use through giving added rest when vital forces are low. Yet these same drugs (opium and morphine) are probably responsible for more unhappiness than any other of man's discoveries, as they are chiefly responsible for drug addiction.

The number of addicts in this country is not known because the drug habit is a secret practice until the users are apprehended or voluntarily report for treatment. Most addicts start to use drugs before they are 30, chiefly from contact with associates or those who peddle drugs. Addiction following a physician's treatment accounts for only 5 per cent of the cases.

GIVES STIMULATING EFFECT

Cocaine users derive satisfaction from its stimulating effect upon the brain. It makes them talkative, restless, excited, and less tired following heavy work. Physicians employ cocaine chiefly for its local effect in blocking nerve impulses, to relieve pain at operation, and not for its effect on the central nervous system.

Opium, which is obtained from the milky juice of the opened unripe seed capsules of the poppy plant, is a source of morphine, codeine, papaverine, and other substances. Opium or its derivative dulls pain and induces sleep. In moderate doses it makes the patient feel happy, free of worry, relaxes, but unable to make decisions. Codeine and papaverine have less tendency to cause addiction than morphine and are used in cases of less severe pain.

Cannabis indica (marijuana), which is not used as a medicine, causes a dreamy state in its users who may become so excited that they do harm to themselves or others.

MARCO POLO DESCRIBED CHINESE POSTMEN WITH TINKLING BELLS

Six and a half centuries have passed since Marco Polo visited China. He found that the Chinese were making use of paper money, and learned other things which were wondrous to a man from Venice, Italy.

The famous traveler tells us that there was a good mail service for the use of public officers in China. Some letters were carried by men on foot, each man running three miles to a station where a clerk made note of the time he got there. Then another runner took the mail from him and ran three miles to another station.

In order to give notice that he was coming, each postman had bells fastened at his waist. The tinkling of the bells warned the next runner that he should make ready to start.

HORSEMEN WERE FASTER

The foot-runner system took mail more than 80 miles in one day, but it was not so swift as the one carried on by mounted men during the same period. Marco Polo declared that postmen galloped so fast from one station to another, that they could transport letters as much as 250 miles in a day and night.

A system of carrying letters by boat grew up in China. Often a boat was handled by just one man, who steered it with a rudder and made it move by pushing "foot-paddles."

STARTED AIRPOST SYSTEM

An airpost system was developed in China before the war with Japan started. Yet only a small proportion of the people could be served by having airplanes carry their mail. Most of the population was content to have letters come by steamboat or railway train.

Even in the field of railways, China has been backward. Only during the present century has any real progress been made in the building of railway lines. By 1931 there were about 10,000 miles of tracks in the country.

In the midst of warfare the Japanese laid down new rail lines in China, but some of the old tracks were destroyed. No one knows the exact mileage of Chinese railroads today, but it surely is small when compared with other large nations of the world.

China has modest output of minerals. These include coal, iron, tungsten and tin. There are great deposits of coal which have been worked only to a small degree.

PERIOD OF INFLATION

Since the end of the Second World War, China has been going through a great period of inflation. Goods have been sold for hundreds of times as much in Chinese dollars as before war-fare started.

With all her troubles, however, we may expect China to come through. In the course of thousands of years, the Chinese have proved themselves to be sturdy folk.

Varsity Scores In Intercity Rugby Battle

Varsity Rallies For Victory Over Tide

Varsity's powerful McKechnie Cup championship rugby team maintained its season and McKechnie Cup series undefeated record here Saturday afternoon by defeating an inspired Crimson Tide fifteen 13 to 5 before over 2,000 fans, in a game that was hard and closely fought throughout.

The locals put on their best game of the series to date in going down to defeat at the hands of the Thunderbirds and on several occasions threatened to cross the visitors' line only to see the breaks go against them. The winning points for Varsity came in the final 15 minutes when the students' unrelenting power came to the fore and they scored two tries to break a 5 to 5 tie.

Both units threatened in the opening minutes of the contest, but were unable to take advantage of scoring opportunities because of fine defensive work of the opposition. Varsity began to press about the 15-minute mark and were finally rewarded when Don Nesbitt went over from about 20 yards out. Nesbitt converted his try and the students led 5 to 0.

DEADLOCK SCORE

Displaying far better form in the second half, the Crimson Tide knotted the count when Fred Ranson cut through from 30 yards out and passed to Albie Williams who went the remaining eight yards for the score. Olsen converted.

Not to be outdone and with their undefeated record threatened, the students applied terrific pressure and after falling in four penalty kicks went ahead when Johnny Wheeler went over following a five-yard scrum. Russ Latham converted to give the students a 10 to 5 lead.

Cliff Denham, husky forward of the Reds, crossed the Varsity line minutes later but was forced into touch over the line and the tying score threat was ended. Varsity completed the scoring on the final play of the game with Wheeler scoring his second try of the match. No conversion attempt was made and the match

Hogan, Demaret Win Four-Ball Tourney

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Golf's greatest team, Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., won the $10,000 international four-ball golf tournament here, Sunday, for the second straight year by defeating Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles and Lawson Little of Cleveland, 3 and 2.

The two closed out the match on the 34th hole as each team had a birdie four. Demaret missed a five-footed for a potential eagle.

Portland Cagers In Second Victory Over Hornets 46-43

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Portland Indians took their second straight from Vancouver Hornets Sunday, winning 46 to 43 in a game marked by rough play in the final minutes as the Hornets rallied strongly in their Pacific Coast Pro Basketball League playoff series here.

Portland held a half-time 40 to 37 edge and widened the gap until the final quarter, when Baker and Andrews started a scoring spree. They each collected 16 points for the game. In the final minutes, Referee Pluso put Uralg Wintermute and Art Chapman out of the game.

Teams and scores follow: Vancouver—Chapman 0, Baker 16, Nicol 2, Andrews 16, Peden 7, Osterhouse 2, Vaughn, Lawn, Portland—Tait 10, J. Mandic 12, Wintermute 5, Durand 2, Hamilton 7, Sarpola 4, Smith 1, Hafenecker 1, Pflugard 3, Butterworth 1.

ended with the two referees in a discussion over whether or not the score was made.

In preliminary games Varsity Fresh defeated Victoria College 9 to 3 and Brentwood College won from St. George's School, Vancouver, 5 to 3.

Samis Beats Birch To Win Canadian Badminton Crown

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four of five Dominion shuttle crowns rested snugly in Vancouver trophy cases today following the first postwar revival of the four-day Canadian badminton championship tournament.

In a complete reversal of the last championships chase at Winnipeg in 1940—which saw practically all the nationals' silverware shipped east—Vancouver's smooth-stroking aces annexed the men's and women's singles and doubles titles in the finals played here Saturday.

Dick Birch and Barbara Ince, both of Toronto, rallied the only eastern victory when they nipped past Vancouver's Norm Mustart and Eleanor Young Connolly 8-15, 15-6, 15-11, to capture the mixed doubles crown.

Cool, smooth-stroking Johnny Samis captured the men's singles championship in a thrilling three-set duel with the veteran Birch 10-15, 15-7, 15-10. It was the second national title for Samis—who first won the singles crown in 1938.

Mrs. Clare Lovett, city and B.C. champion, deposed defending champion Mrs. Dorothy Walton of Toronto, 11-5, 11-3, for the women's singles championship.

Finals in the men's and women's doubles events were all Vancouver affairs. Jack Underhill, new president of the Canadian Badminton Association, teamed with Samis to capture the men's event from Jimmy Forsythe and Ken Meredith 15-11, 11-15, 15-11. Mrs. Lovett garnered additional honors in the women's doubles, teaming with Mrs. Nora Maw to defeat Mrs. Eleanor Young Connolly, top ranked woman tennis player in Canada, and Jocelyn Pease, 15-11, 16-18, 15-5.

Duke Of Connaught High Wins Tourney

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—The Duke of Connaught High School captured the George Sparling Trophy here Saturday night when they defeated Trapp Technical School 36 to 28 in the British Columbia Invitation high school basketball tournament. Both are New Westminster schools.

Consolation laurels went to Magee High of Vancouver who eked out a slim 35 to 34 victory over Vancouver College. Duke of Connaught advanced to final with a 37 to 29 win over Victoria High, while Trapp defeated Prince High 47 to 36 in the second semi-final.

Ambler's 5 Goals Mark Saints' Win

VANCOUVER (CP)—St. Andrews Saturday moved into a tie for second place with North Shore when they drove through the sieve-like defence of Kerrisdale for a 7 to 1-ecount before 1,500 fans in a Pacific Coast Soccer League match.

From the starry boot of Frank Ambler came five of the Scots' goals, while he prepared the way for others. Teddy Crooks scored the lone counter for the Kerries.

The Scots moved just two points back of the leading Victoria United squad who have played three more games than the Scots. St. Andrews travel to Victoria to battle the United eleven Saturday.

Cy Wallis In Sweep Of Bowling Honors

Cy Wallis, crack kegler of the Douglas Tire team of the Commercial Fivepin League, really burnt up the alleys at Gibson's Bowladrome over the week-end as he captured the Victoria fivepin singles championship, the all-events title and bowled the high single mark of the tourney with a sparkling 420.

Starting last week-end when the team championships were contested, Wallis literally bowled his opposition into the ground by adding to his team score of 859 with a doubles score of 850 and a singles mark of 876 for a grand total of 2,585. Wallis, whose season's average is 236, bowled from scratch during the tournament. In amassing his singles game of 420 Wallis missed on the 11th frame after bowling 10 consecutive strikes.

WIN DOUBLES

Les Bing of the Rotary Club and Vic Meston of Kiwanis teamed up to annex the Victoria Daily Times trophy in the doubles events with a score of 1,555. Naylor and Rodway finished in second place with 1,536 with Larsen and Butler third with 1,529.

A McHaffie and C Pugh finished second and third for the singles crown with three-game scores of 866 and 865. H. Gibson was second in the All Events competition bowling a gross 2,400 with A. McKeachie third with 2,327.

Top 10 singles results follow:

C. Wallis	420
A. McHaffie	406
F. Pugh	405
A. Copp	378
P. Smith	365
W. Bird	360
A. McKeachie	329
A. O'Neil	327
T. R. Brien	327
D. Corbett	316

Sports Protest Proposed Midweek Ban In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Sports circles counter-attacked today against a proposed government curb on the athletic industry, declaring that all work and no play will make Jack Bull a dull boy.

Sir Arthur Elvin, head of Wembley Stadium Ltd., major arena for the 1948 Olympics, said: "All work and no pleasure is not likely to assist production and adequate provisions must be made for sports entertainment for the workers."

Besides lowering morale, other defenders of sport pointed out that any ban would create unemployment and cost the government the loss of 45 per cent entertainment tax.

Newspapers speculated that the powers-that-be would ask a midweek ban on these sports or, perhaps, no daytime play. If the proposed two daytime work shifts were inaugurated, however, there would be small gain by merely moving activities to evening.

Boxing, lawn tennis, golf, cricket and Olympic interests were optimistic they would not be involved. They did not get invitations to the Ede meeting.

Those invited—the Jockey Club (flat racing), National Hunt Committee (steeplechase racing), Football League and Greyhound Racing Association—were resigned to some disruption.

Varsity Wins Hockey

In a pair of grass hockey matches here Saturday visiting Varsity teams marked up a pair of victories. The students defeated Victoria College men 5 to 3 and marked up a 3 to 1 triumph over college girls.

Legion Defeat Esquimalt To Take Over Soccer Lead

In one of the highest scoring games of the season Canadian Legion turned back Esquimalt 5 to 4 yesterday afternoon, to take over sole occupation of first place in the Victoria and District Football League. Previous to yesterday's victory the Legion had been in a three-way deadlock with Victoria West and Oak Bay.

After Legion had moved into a 2 to 1 lead in the first half, Esquimalt rallied to tie the score early in the second period. Legion twice moved into two-goal margin only to have Esquimalt get within one goal and miss a grand chance to finish in a tie by failing to score on a penalty late in the game.

Legion opened the scoring midway through the first half, outside right Andy Anderson catching the jar corner with a hard drive. Centre forward George Payne made it 2 to 0, kicking in a rebound to find the net. Esquimalt took the offensive and centre forward Tommy Druce took a high lob from Art Young to wheel and score.

Second half was minutes old when Young took a pass from the right wing, cut in fast and scored into an open net when goalie Vic Dale rushed in on an attempt to block. On the next play Young hit the upright with Dale out of his net. Legion settled down and a pair of fast goals by Pickup and Anderson gave them a 4 to 2 edge. At the other end Druce got his second goal, heading the ball over Dale's outstretched hands. Payne matched that one to make it 5 to 3.

Penalty was awarded Esquimalt but Druce shot directly at Dale and he cleared. In the final minute Gordie Hayward took a cross in front of the goal and missed a low shot into the net to complete the scoring.

Varsity Eleven In Smart Display To Blank Wests

Presenting a big powerful soccer eleven with plenty of dash Varsity blanked Victoria West 3 to 0 Saturday afternoon. The students put on as sweet an exhibition of passing, hard shooting and smart defensive play as seen here this season and were full value for their victory.

Much quicker on the ball than the Wests, Varsity had a decided edge on the play in the first half and despite a determined attack by the green-shirts in the second half were successful in saving their shutout.

Ten minutes after play opened Varsity moved into the lead when inside right Jimmy Gold picked up a rebound and drove a high shot past Clarkson in the Wests' net. Continuing on the offensive the students made it 2 to 0, Harrison going in on top of Clarkson to score. In a goal-mouth scramble Clarkson suffered an injured wrist and was replaced by Tommy Restell. Varsity failed to score on a penalty awarded when Harrison was brought down hard. Half-time found no change in the score.

With the opening of the second half Wests switched their forward line with Robinson replacing Prior at inside right. The change saw the green-shirts control more of the play but were unable to beat goalie Moreton. Varsity's third and final goal came when fullback Newnam kicked the ball into his own net in attempting to clear a shot by Thompson.

Varsity's second team defeated Navy footballers 4 to 0.

Seattle, Portland Win Playoff Hockey

New Westminster Royals and Vancouver Canucks, who pulled minor upsets by edging out victories over Seattle Ironmen and Portland Eagles in their respective opening games of the Pacific Coast Hockey League's northern division semifinals, had a reversal of playoff form during the week-end.

Seattle Ironmen moved within one game of the division finals by defeating the Royals 4 to 1 in New Westminster Saturday and 2 to 0 in Seattle Sunday. The fourth game will be played in New Westminster Thursday. Vancouver Canucks made it tougher for the Portland Eagles in Portland Sunday. Trailing 5 to 4 with one second left in the third period, Ab McDougall smashed in a desperation shot to tie the tally. But Pat Desbiens tied the series for Portland with a counter in the wild overtime period to give Portland a 6 to 5 win.

Oak Bay College Win Grid Battles

Grid battles at Central Park on Sunday afternoon saw Oak Bay Gobblins, coached by Bill Bishop, trounce Johnnie's Coffee Shop 40 to 0, and Steve Rynokoff's St. Louis College team win over Legion Bears 11 to 6 in a hard fought battle.

Flashing too much power for the Coffee Shop Unit, Gobblins scored first at the nine minute mark when Stinson pulled in a long pass from Brown for the touchdown. From then on it was all Gobblins as Utting, Brown, Massick and Beaton and McLaren scored for the winners, the latter going over twice. McLaren kicked one conversion and passed to Digby for another. Brown kicked a convert and Ken West Goblin captain scored two points when he tackled a cafeman behind the line for a safety.

The Legion-St. Louis tussle was closely fought with the Legion coming from behind a first-half 6 to 5 deficit for their win. The winning touchdown came when College intercepted a Legion aerial and raced 45 yards for the score. French converted the extra point by passing to Lott.

Dodds won the Bishop Donohue two-mile race by 40 yards from Forest Eflaw. The Flying Pafson followed the pace for a mile and a quarter, took over with eight laps to go and snapped the tape in 9:15.5.

Gil Dodds Scores Great Double Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil Dodds completed a spectacular "distance double" in the Knights of Columbus games Saturday night by winning the two-mile run an hour after he had captured the Frank A. Brennan Columbian Mile in 4:07.1, second fastest time ever turned in on a standard indoor track.

Dodds won the Bishop Donohue two-mile race by 40 yards from Forest Eflaw. The Flying Pafson followed the pace for a mile and a quarter, took over with eight laps to go and snapped the tape in 9:15.5.

Maple Leafs Mark Up Double Ice Win

The top three of the National Hockey League all hit full victory stride in week-end games and that means the teams start the schedule's final two weeks with time a big factor in deciding the Stanley Cup playoff groupings.

The second-place Toronto Maple Leafs made the most hay by winning two starts, trouncing Chicago Black Hawks, 12 to 4, in the only Saturday night game and defeating the Rangers 4 to 2 at New York Sunday night. But it looked as if the Leafs bounced out of their slump too late.

The league-leading Montreal Canadiens made it a dismal week-end for the Hawks by defeating them 4 to 1 in Chicago and now need just two more victories to clinch first, no matter if Leafs capture all their five remaining games.

Toronto's two triumphs left Boston Bruins with little hope of finishing any better than third, but the Bruins consolidated that berth and also helped keep the fourth-place battle tight by turning back Detroit Red Wings, 6 to 0.

The Leafs treated 12,376 Saturday night Toronto fans with the highest scoring spree of the season in humbling the tail-enders. In all, 12 Toronto players hit the score-sheet for a total of 31 scoring points.

POILE HOT

Bud Poile, the husky Fort William boy just converted to a defenceman after injuries riddled the Toronto rearguard, was Toronto's big gun, firing three goals and assisting on another. Defenceman Jimmy Thomson and Gaye Stewart scored twice.

Alex Kaleta, Bill Mosienko, George Gee and Max Bentley counted for Chicago, Bentley adding an assist to climb within a point of Montreal's Maurice Richard in the individual scoring race. The Rocket regained one of the points, however, when Canadiens handed Hawks their second straight loss before a crowd of 17,336 at Chicago.

The Leafs, who had won only two and tied four of 16 previous starts, came from behind to rack up their second week-end triumph at New York. Playing before 15,925, the Rangers took at 2 to 1 lead in the first period on goals by Edgar Laprade and Alfie Pike against Watson's tally.

Bill Ezinicki and Poile, with his fourth week-end goal, shot Toronto ahead in the second frame and Ezinicki added the only tally of the last 20 minutes.

Bill Cowley, Boston's veteran centre who now breaks his own all-time scoring record every time he gets a point, ran his life-time N.H.L. total to 576 by opening the Bruins' scoring against Detroit. It was his 203rd goal.

The Bruins followed through with tallies by Terry Reardon, Ken Smith, Joe Carveth, Pat Egan and Milt Schmidt, while Frankie Brimsek chalked up his third shutout of the season.

Juvenile Soccer

Elks won the second-half honors in division four of the juvenile league, Saturday, defeating North Ward 2 to 1. Elks and Wards, first-half winners, will play off for the championship.

Scores in other juvenile games follow: Division One—Black and Whites 3, Esquimalt 2. Division Two—Oak Bay 4, Sea Cadets 0.

Division Three—Empire Sawdust 2, Oak Bay 1. Division Five—T.A.C. 3, Balmoral Thistles 0; Eagles 2, St. Louis College 1.

Four-Team City Senior Ball League; Cull Again President

Prospects are for a four-team city senior baseball league this summer. At the annual meeting held Sunday Eagles, Canadian Legion, V.M.D. and Pitzer and Nex were represented and expressed their intention of entering clubs. Entries will close March 30.

Bill Cull was re-elected president as was vice-president Ted Taylor and secretary-treasurer Tommy Restell.

Games will be played at both Athletic and Macdonald Parks, the latter grounds being used when the professional Athletics hold forth at Athletic.

Plans are also being made for the local clubs to play in a Lower Island League with teams from Duncan, Chemainus and Nanaimo. These games would be played on Sundays both here and up-island. It is hoped to have the island league games count in the local loop standings.

Senior league also plans to operate a second division for players 18 years and over.

Hammond Retires From Test Cricket

LONDON (CP)—W. R. (Wally) Hammond, captain of England's team in the Australian test cricket matches and one of the most notable cricketers of the present century, will retire from test play and also as captain of the Gloucestershire team on account of "pressure of business," it was announced today.

He will continue his leadership of the Marylebone Cricket Club until the present English tour of Australia ends.

His retirement comes as no surprise. Hammond, 44, has been handicapped during his present tour by a recurrence of fibrositis, which led to his discharge from the R.A.F. in 1945. He did not appear in the final test.

Kramer, Miss Betz Tennis Champions

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Kramer and Pauline Betz assumed complete command of United States amateur tennis Saturday when they captured the national indoor championships and piled them on top of the turf court singles titles they won last summer.

Kramer was at his sparkling best as he wrapped up the men's singles titles for the first time with a crushing straight-set triumph over young Bob Falkenburg, the national intercollegiate champion from Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Betz, who numbers the Wimbledon championship among her present title possessions, was

Vancouver Swimmers Claim National Marks

VANCOUVER—Vancouver swimmers laid claim to two new Canadian records here Saturday night in an intercity meet with Victoria Amateur Swimming Club.

Officials of the Vancouver Swimming Club, sponsors of the meet, said they would ask the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association for official recognition of the new marks.

Ted Wilson of Vancouver established a new Canadian mark of 29.6 seconds in the 30-yard backstroke for senior men. The old record of 29.8 second was held by Wilson and Jack McCormack of Hamilton.

Three Vancouver girls, Irene Strong, Norah Kirkpatrick and Kay McNamee set a new record in the 150-yard medley race for senior women when they broke the old mark of 1.40 with a time of 1.39.5.

Vancouver won the dual meet by a point score of 95 to 42. The water polo match ended in a 1 to 1 tie.

Victoria captured the 200-yard junior boys freestyle relay with their second team taking third in the same event. They finished in a tie for second in the senior relay with Vancouver's second team. Bill Doddridge was third in the 50-yard backstroke and second in the 200-yard senior freestyle.

D. Stewart took first place in the 50-yard junior boys breaststroke with R. Calton third. Other place winners for the Victoria club were J. Wellburn, first in the 100-yard junior freestyle; N. Stewart, third in the 50-yard junior girls breaststroke and second in the novice girls freestyle; J. Wellburn, first in 50-yard backstroke for junior boys and Bill Langford second; Bill Montgomery was third in the 50-yard juvenile freestyle. D. Stewart finished second in the senior breaststroke.

NANAIMO BEATEN

VERNON (CP)—A three-goal outburst in the final period Saturday night gave the Trail All-Stars a 4 to 2 victory over the Nanaimo Clippers in the first game of the intermediate hockey Coy Cup finals. The second game will be played here tonight in the three-of-five series.

With the game tied 1 to 1 at the five minute mark of the final stanza, Bob Kendall scored twice to put the All-Stars ahead until the final bell.

nearly as impressive in the feminine male. She defeated Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-2, 7-5.

Sir Francis Jackson, Cricket Star, Dies

LONDON (CP)—Sir Francis Jackson, 70, one of England's greatest cricket players, died Sunday.

Sir Francis liked to boast that his "fag"—lower classman errand-boy—at Harrow School was Winston Churchill and that when they left school the headmaster said:

"Winston, I'm sure you'll make a name for yourself, Stanley, I hope you will."

He was a member of Parliament for Howdenshire for 12 years. He was governor of Bengal from 1927-32.

Sir Francis captained cricket teams for Harrow, Cambridge, Yorkshire and England and served terms as president of the Marylebone Cricket Club.

Girls' Drill Team Needs 7 Recruits

Cupid has dealt a heavy blow to Norman Foster's Victoria Girls' Drill Team, with seven resignations pending, because of forthcoming marriages.

Five have already set dates for June, the traditional month for weddings.

Present strength of the team is 71 and Mr. Foster hopes to maintain it at 70. He is seeking recruits to fill the seven vacancies and prefers girls who can sing as the Drill Team is now a Glee Club also.

"We have several engagements for the summer and the team will be singing over the radio during the Portland Rose Festival, June 9-14," he said.

Mr. Foster does not specify what color the girls' hair must be, but asks that any drill team hopefuls be 17 or 18 years of age, and between five feet four inches, and five feet five and a half inches, in height.

Mumps Takes Toll Of Court Registry

Mumps and the flu have taken almost complete toll of the clerks in the registry office at the Courthouse.

Five of the staff are at home. The exodus started about two weeks ago and the remainder of the staff are hoping that the mumps and flu have run their course.

George Bowden and Eleanor Walton are taking care of the work with the aid of a former clerk who had retired.

P.G.E. Board Names Hart President To Succeed Spencer

Premier John Hart was elected president and Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb vice-president at a meeting of the board of directors of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company held in Mr. Hart's office today.

Mr. Hart succeeds Chris Spencer, C.B.E., to the presidency of the company. At the meeting, J. M. Stewart, deputy minister of railways was welcomed as a new member. Mr. Hart has served as a director of the company from 1918 to 1924 and from 1933 to the present.

Directors expressed the hope that Mr. Hart's work on extension of the railway would lead to the successful consummation of the policy he has outlined.

A resolution of appreciation of the directors for the valuable service given by Mr. Spencer was passed at the meeting. Mr. Spencer had served as director and later as president of the company, relinquishing the post some time ago.

In welcoming Mr. Anscomb to the board, Mr. Hart said that the railway company would undoubtedly benefit from Mr. Anscomb's wide business experience.

Mr. Stewart was one of the first two men to be employed by the company in 1912 and today is the only original member left on the staff. His work has included both location of the rail line and operation of the railway.

Recently Mr. Stewart has directed surveys for the proposed extension of the railway into the Peace River district and surveys of the resources of this area, through which the railway may be extended.

The other director of the board is Charles Hupper, who has been a director since 1933.

Also attending the meeting were William Rae, superintendent of motive power, associated with the company since the government took over in 1917; W. H. Tobey, general manager and secretary of the board, who joined the P.G.E. in 1940; and H. W. McNeill, chief accountant, associated with the railway since 1919.

1947 B.C. Reforestation Program In Full Swing In Island Woods

The B.C. Forest Service's 1947 reforestation program now is in full swing.

Because of a lack of labor last year and the previous year, plantings were small and trees being planted this year are three-year-old Douglas fir with a few western red cedar.

Next year the forest service's expanded program, provided for the planting of 20,000,000 trees, will be undertaken.

Today about 170 men are planting trees in three districts of Vancouver Island. A total of just over 3,000,000 trees will be planted.

Plantings now are under way at Loveland Lake, near Campbell River; Horne Lake, north of Qualicum, and Timberland, between Nanaimo and Ladysmith.

Reforestation this year by private industry is small because of the heavy expense of planting three-year-old trees rather than two-year-old seedlings. Small plantings are being made by the Comox Logging and Railway Co. Ltd., near Comox and the B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

While two-year-old trees are preferred for planting, the survival rate of three-year-old trees is just slightly less than for the younger seedlings, B.C. Forest Service experts reported. To determine the survival rate of three-year-olds they conducted an investigation in plantings of three-year-old trees last fall among plantings made that spring.

Three-year-old trees, however, cost much more to plant. The cost of raising them from the nurseries, the cost of transporting them to the reforestation areas and the cost of actual planting is greater because the trees are larger.

In nurseries of the B.C. Forest Service now there are almost 20,000,000 young Douglas fir and western red cedar trees which will be available for planting as two-year-olds next year at this time.

Many Subscribers To Red Cross Wish To Donate Blood

Red Cross officials at campaign headquarters here announced at noon today $20,081 had been subscribed to the Victoria campaign for $65,000. Total for the first week of the campaign which ended Saturday was $19,116.

National objective in the drive for money to carry on the peacetime program of the society is $3,000,000. The campaign will continue for two or three weeks across Canada.

One Victoria official reported a number of subscribers have expressed a desire to register as blood donors.

The Blood Transfusion Service, currently being established by the Red Cross as part of its peacetime program, will eventually make it possible for every hospital in Canada, and the patients they serve, to obtain a constant supply of whole blood and plasma free of charge.

At present the majority of Canadian hospitals are finding great difficulty in providing blood to meet the demand.

This is a costly service with results measured in terms of lives saved. More than one-fifth of the $5,000,000 budget required by the society will be used to ensure the availability of life-saving whole blood and plasma through the hospitals to all Canadians from coast to coast.

Putnam Scheduled To Speak Tuesday

Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam is scheduled to participate in the budget debate in the B.C. Legislature Tuesday afternoon.

Also scheduled to give addresses are Tom Uphill, veteran Labor M.L.A. from Fernie constituency, and Dr. J. J. Gillis, Coalition member for Yale, and Mrs. T. J. Roiston, Coalition, Vancouver-Point Grey.

Hills will deliver an address entitled "Sunrise Without Sunset." A loan exhibition of pictures will be on view.

Annual meeting and election of officers for the Victoria branch of the Canadian Authors' Association will be held in Union Building, 301, Wednesday evening at 8. In view of the national convention of the Canadian Authors' Association to be held on the Pacific coast this summer, the meeting should be of more than usual interest.

Building permits have been issued to J. R. Wilson to build a five-room house at 2951 Glasgow Street, $5,000; to Melody Lane Restaurant Co. for foundations and excavation of a restaurant at 2703 Douglas Street, $5,000; to H. D. Pope to convert 1404 Harrison Street to a two-family dwelling, $2,000; and to E. Wilson to build a five-room house at 1200 Basil Street, $5,400.

Thief Takes Shoes, Gets Two 'Rights'

In addition to the Whitney jewelry store robbery, city police over the week-end received reports of other minor break-ins and robberies.

The thief who broke into the suite of J. Ryan at Mount Edwards Apartments between 3 Saturday afternoon and 11.15 Sunday night via a bedroom window left unlocked will have to wear two right-footed shoes if he uses those he stole. Police found that only the right-foot shoes of two pair were missing. Also stolen was a $42.50 suit. The rooms were completely ransacked.

Two spools of 5-16 gauge wire, amounting to 4,000 feet, were stolen by thieves who broke into Ship Chandlers, 1214 Wharf Street, by prying open the door.

Miss H. E. Munday, 1035 Packington Place and Errick Day, 1140 Vista Heights, both reported theft of money from their milk bottles.

One writing desk, a $100 war bond and several valuable papers were stolen from the house trailer owned by Mrs. Burbury, 635 Colvin Street.

Centennial Church, Gorge Road, was entered by prying open a window on the David Street side. Nothing was reported missing.

The firm of Ramsay & Adams, 435 Garbally Road, reported to police that while nothing was missing, about $50 damage was done by persons who entered the premises over the week-end. Children are suspected.

M. P. Payne, 715 View Street, reported to police this morning that his car, parked outside the View Street premises, was prowled. Missing is a 100-foot steel tape, six silver cups and a leather container and a silver flask.

Press Commission

LONDON (Reuter) — Prime Minister Attlee told the Commons today he hoped to announce before Easter—April 6—the names of the members of the Royal Commission which will investigate the conduct of the British press in accordance with a government decision last year.

Suggests Wartime Houses For Pensioners

Suggestion that the city should take steps to acquire all wartime houses as they go on the market for the option price of $1,000 was made to Mayor Percy George today by H. C. Holmes, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Holmes felt that these houses would be ideal for use of those in low income brackets, including old age pensioners.

He was opposed to allowing present tenants to purchase the houses because he said many of them are not in the low-income bracket and could afford higher-priced homes. The fact the tenants are willing to buy proves the houses are good, he said, and thus would be a sound investment for the city.

Technicolor Musical At Royal Tomorrow

Another of Warner Bros.' star-studded, tuneful and joyous technicolor musicals begins a local engagement at the Royal Theatre tomorrow. It is "The Time, the Place and the Girl," starring the popular screen combination of Dennis Morgan and Jack Carson, and, for plenty of romantic interest, Martha Vickers and Janis Paige. The film spins an entertaining story of a night club singer and orchestra leader.

'The Jolson Story' Held At Capitol

Columbia Pictures' "The Jolson Story," spectacular musical in technicolor set to the heartbeat of America's greatest era in entertainment, continues its run at the Capitol Theatre. Originally scheduled to bow out on Saturday, the tremendous demand for seats will keep it on view this week. Larry Parks, Evelyn Keyes, William Demarest and Bill Goodwin are featured in this Sidney Skolsky production which was directed by Alfred E. Green.

'Strange Woman' Plaza Offering

Carmen Dragon, who won an Academy Award for his musical scoring of the Columbia film, "Cover Girl," starring Rita Hayworth, scored the background music for "The Strange Woman," which stars Hedy Lamarr, George Sanders and Louis Hayward, at the Plaza Theatre.

Hedy Lamarr plays the fascinating Jekyll-and-Hyde role of Jenny Hager. Miss Lamarr also collaborated with Jack Chertok on the production end of the film—this marking her first step into the independent production field.

'Shadows In Night' Presented At Rio

"Shadows in the Night," starring Warner Baxter, third picture in the series of Columbia's screen adaptations of the famous Max Marcin radio "Crime Doctor" program, starts at the Rio Theatre today.

Besides the star, Baxter, the cast includes Nina Foch, George Zucco, Edward Norris, Lester Matthews, Ben Welden and Jeanne Bates. The story and screenplay were written by Eric Taylor. It was directed by Eugene J. Forde.

'More The Merrier' Coming To Dominion

George Stevens' "The More the Merrier" opens tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre. Co-starring Jean Arthur, Joel McCrea and Charles Coburn, the delightful new Columbia comedy is one of the lightest, gayest, timelest pictures of the season.

The story is all about a cute little secretary played by Jean Arthur, who sublets one room in her apartment to Charles Coburn.

'The Big Sleep' On Atlas Screen

Death, as it does to all men, comes on the screen to strapping "Western Star" Bob Steele, veteran of 182 horse operas and never once a dust-biter till he meets his untimely end in a gun duel with Humphrey Bogart, co-star with Lauren Bacall of Howard Hawks' production, "The Big Sleep," Warner Bros.' hit drama, now at the Atlas Theatre.

NO STARS AT ALL

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Now that "Lady in the Lake" is a boxoffice hit, Bob Montgomery laughingly said he could tell me the story.

As director and star, Bob introduces a new screen technique in "Lady." The camera's eyes are his eyes. You don't see Bob as he tracks down a killer. You see what he sees.

One scene—you may remember it—calls for Bob to enter a deserted house, look around down stairs, open a couple of closet doors, go upstairs and look up and down a hallway. Then he sees a woman's handkerchief on the floor, stoops down, and picks it up.

USED BIG ROOM

For the scene, the camera was mounted on an 11-ton boom on wheels. You can't get an 11-ton boom through a standard doorway. So as Bob (and the camera) reached the doorway, they were whisked out of camera range by an intricate arrangement of ropes and pulleys and wires.

Just before Bob started the scene, a group of M-G-M's eastern bankers arrived for a "look-see." Naturally, they were rather startled as Bob yelled "action" and the camera started a grand tour in a deserted house without Lana Turner or Clark Gable or Lassie or someone in sight.

Then the set started falling apart as Bob cued workmen to jerk away whole walls and doorways as the 11-ton boom crunched on like an army tank. Finally Bob yelled "cut," and the bankers, now practically swooning, rushed over to him and said: "What did you just do, Mr. Montgomery?"

"Gentlemen," Montgomery smiled sweetly, "I just photographed a lady's handkerchief."

Family ties usually are severed professionally in Hollywood. When Joan Fontaine, for ex-

Retired B.C. Judge D. Whiteside Dies

COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP)—David Whiteside, 77, retired county court judge and former Liberal member of the British Columbia Legislature, died suddenly Sunday at his home here on the outskirts of New Westminster.

Born in Scarborough, Ont., he graduated from Osgoode Hall, Toronto, in 1895, and was a member of the Ontario Bar Association. He came west in 1900 to Grand Forks, B.C., where he was a law partner of the late Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald.

From 1916 to 1924 he represented New Westminster in the Legislature at Victoria. In 1938 he was appointed County Court judge in New Westminster, from which post he retired in 1945. Judge Whiteside is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Smith, West Vancouver, and Mrs. T. Douglas Groves, Qualicum Beach, V.I., and a brother, John Whiteside of Woodstock, Ont.

HOW NUPTIALS WILL TURN OUT CAN BE GAUGED PRE-CEREMONY MANNERS

Is marriage inevitably a gamble? Is it absolutely impossible for a man and woman to tell on the safe side of the altar how their marriage will turn out and if they will be happy together? Are the dumb and the reckless just as apt to make a good choice of their mates as the wise and the prudent? Is a successful marriage just a matter of pure luck? Are we compelled to trust the outcome of the most important act we ever commit in our lives to blind chance? Is there no way to keep marriage from being so risky that it makes the crookedest gambling game seem a sure thing?

Judging from the foolhardy ventures that so many men and women make into the holy estate, we are led to conclude that most people subscribe to the buying-a-pig-in-a-poke theory of selecting a mate. For every day we see boys and girls marrying on a two or three hours' acquaintance. We hear of others indulging in proxy weddings with strangers they have never even seen. And myriad others taking on as life partners those with whom they have not a single taste, or thought, or habit in common.

Nothing but the settled belief that marriage is a gamble in which you are just as likely to win out if you marry Susie as you would be if you marry Katie, or that you will stand just as good a chance of making a killing if you take John for a husband as you will if you take Fred, can explain why there are so many mismatched couples and so many unhappy marriages. They just guessed wrong and lost out.

MARRIAGE IS NO LOTTERY
In reality, marriage does not

They'll Do It Every Time

belong in the lottery class, and there is no excuse for placing it among the extra hazards of life. For everyone, outside of the feeble-minded group, can form a fairly accurate judgment of the mentality and character of the men and women with whom they are brought in contact and estimate the kind of husbands and wives they would make.

One would think that the veriest nitwit of a boy wouldn't undertake to spend the balance of his life with a girl without finding out whether she bored him to tears or not; that a poor boy wouldn't saddle himself with a girl who was nothing but a clothes-horse and who kept her father in debt with her extravagance; that a peace-loving man would keep out of the clutches of a shrew and a virago.

You would think that the dumbest Dumb Dora wouldn't be so dumb that she would deliberately undertake a life job at fishing a drunkard out of the gutter, or taking back a husband who was always stepping on her, or working to support one who was too lazy to take on a job himself.

WRECK THEIR LIVES

But they do. They wreck their lives by making marriages that are bound to bring misery upon them. Not because they don't know what they are doing, but because they are sold to the belief that marriage is a gamble in which you are bound to take risks, and that you never can tell, until you try it, whether you will be happy or not, or whether your mate is an angel or a devil.

No. No. A thousand times no! Marriage is no gamble. It is a dead, open and shut proposition.

Spring Upsurge In Building Figures

The annual spring building upsurge is evident already with the city building department reporting 47 permits issued last week for a total value of $140,663. These include permits for 12 dwellings, two stores, one duplex, one $20,000 factory, and one workshop.

Fourteen dwellings and two stores, valued at $71,650, were among the 38 building permits issued last week in Saanich for a total value of $79,650.

The commercial permits were for a $5,800 general store at 3214 Douglas Street, and a combined office, store and warehouse costing $4,500, at 3242 Douglas Street.

Among the permits issued for dwellings were: $5,800, five rooms, 1540 McRae; $5,800, five rooms, Tindall; $5,000, six rooms, Cordova Bay; $5,000, five rooms, Ruby; $4,000, four rooms, Clark; $3,000, four rooms, 570 Ker; $3,500, four rooms, 2877 Dysart; $4,000, four rooms, 3119 Donald; $4,000, six rooms, Cordova Bay; $4,500, five rooms, 49 Regina; $4,400, five rooms, Wilkinson; $4,400, five rooms, Pipe Line, and $1,200, three rooms, Lindsay.

Four permits were issued last week in Oak Bay. Permits were: Five-room dwelling on Carnarvon Street, valued at $5,000; four-room dwelling on Quimper Street, valued at $5,000; six-room dwelling on Oliver Street, valued at $6,950, and five-room dwelling on 2077 Newton Street, at $6,000.

Permits totaling a value of $3,500 were issued in Esquimalt last week for a residence on Craigflower Road and alterations,

ADEQUATE WIRING...

the first step to

Better Electrical Living

Enjoyable electrical living starts with the wiring system. Whether you're building, remodelling or just fixing up the house, look to the wiring. Ask your Electrical Contractor... Will the wiring system carry an electric range and water heater? Will it permit all appliances to work efficiently? Are there enough circuits to prevent overloading? Are there enough switches and outlets for convenience and comfort? When the answer is yes to all of these questions you will be able to enjoy to the full the economy and limitless pleasures of electrical living.

GENERAL ELECTRIC WIRING MATERIALS

You should make certain that all wiring is done with quality materials. Specify G-E products to your contractor. He will be glad to use only the best. The difference in cost between bargain wiring and that of the highest quality is a very small percentage of home cost. Your electrical contractor can show you why a first-class wiring job, with G-E wiring materials will save you money... why you won't need to think of the wiring system again for years... why it will serve without need for expansion... and why it increases the value of your house. You make sure of the very best when you specify General Electric Wiring Materials... known for years for high quality and dependable performance.

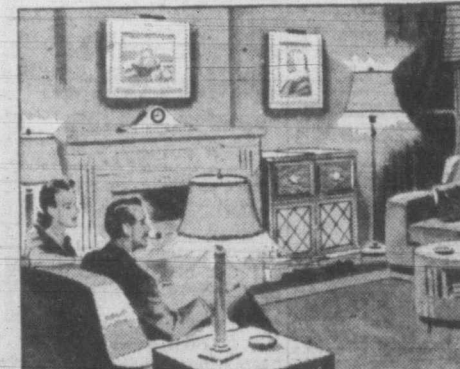

In the kitchen your wiring must provide for plenty of light on work surfaces and for convenient outlets for radio, mixer, kettle and all the other small appliances.

Plenty of light exactly where you need it is important in the laundry, too, and you'll need enough circuits to carry the washer, the electric drier and the heater.

In the bedroom you will require sufficient outlets for bed and dresser lamps, electric blankets, clock and radio. Provide also for a vacuum cleaner outlet in the hall.

To enjoy your living room fully, you need plenty of outlets to be able to place table lamps, picture lamps, radio, clock and furniture just where they're most convenient.

Big Donations Made To U.B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Donations to the University of British Columbia totaling nearly $70,000 have been received from two large logging and lumbering firms.

The H. R. MacMillan Export Company has offered to maintain a professor of silviculture at the university for five years, in order to start work in conservation and reforestation. The cost will total between $20,000 and $25,000. The firm earlier gave the university $22,500 for work in the same field.

In addition, the MacMillan export firm has pledged $20,000 for the appointment of a five-year period of a new faculty member to study forest growth and development and possible products obtainable from B.C. timber.

Meanwhile, British Columbia Forest Products Ltd. have offered to establish a branch of forest entomology at the university, and to pay the salary of a

Woman Interrupts Trial Of Montrealer On Spying Charges

DR. RAYMOND BOYER

MONTREAL (CP) — The espionage trial of Dr. Raymond Boyer, wealthy Montreal scientist, was adjourned today until tomorrow after a 12-man French-speaking jury had been chosen to hear the case in King's Bench Court.

One interruption marred the brief morning session when a young woman, claiming she had the protection of Prime Minister King and Justice Minister Lasky, interrupted the proceedings and asked to be heard.

She said she did not want the judge to be misled during the trial and stated that Dr. Boyer was innocent and that she could prove it. Despite orders to sit down, she continued to speak until escorted from the courtroom by two constables.

Dr. Boyer, last of 18 Canadians to face court charges in consequence of the espionage investigation, is charged with conspiracy to violate the Official Secrets Act and with violating the federal measure. He has pleaded innocence.

Fred Rose, former Labor Progressive Member of Parliament for Montreal-Cartier, sentenced to six years in the penitentiary after conviction on charges similar to those against Dr. Boyer, was at the courthouse today—awaiting a call as a witness. He likely will appear only for identification purposes.

Worst Food Crisis Since War Likely Says London Paper

LONDON (Reuter)—The Conservative Daily Mail said today that Britain is expected to run into her "worst food crisis since the war ended" during the coming two months.

"By that time there will be an acute scarcity of flour and bread, meat, potatoes and fats of all kinds," the Daily Mail predicted in its main front-page story.

The fresh meat ration would, from today, be of inferior quality and was in danger of reduction, the paper added, quoting British butchers.

The Food Ministry hoped to avoid rationing potatoes, the Daily Mail said, adding that the effort might fail.
